REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION

The delegates to the Republican County Convention who were elected on Saturday, August 22d, will meet in Reynold's Hall, on TUESDAY, OCTOBER 6th,

at 2 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of nominating a ticket to be supported at the ensuing November election.

D. H. HASTINGS,
Chair'n Rep. Co. Con.

VOTERS, ATTENTION!

All voters must pay their taxes one month before election. See to it at once, you will not be allowed to vote if your taxes are not paid.

POLITICAL NOTES.

—It is said that Philadelphia is building thirteen additional public school houses.

—Why is it that the Ku-Klux organization and the Democratic party are so closely connected that when you hit one you hit the other?

—Mr. Meek invited proposals from the Clinton County Democracy, but is compelled to go into the conference to-day without receiving any bids. Whew!

—It seems the Democracy cannot find good farmers or merchants to honor with office, but must pick up old political hacks to represent them in the Legislature.

—A century ago Patrick Henry said: 'I am not a Virginian, but an American.' We commend the sentiment to the consideration of the people of the South to-day.

—The Watchman thinks Massachusetts is Republican on account of its free schools, does it think this is another outrageous attempt to check the growth of democratic ideas?

—The Union County Democracy cooked the Watchman goose, by instructing her congressional conferees for L. A. Mackey. They propose to have a grand feast in Bellefonte to-day, but it is not certain that Messrs. Alexander and Meek will join them in their festivities. Do you verstehen?

—The worthlessness of Democratic promises is shown in the fact that, two years ago, the Democrats, north and sonth, were supporting Greeley upon an equal rights platform, now the same Democrats are clamoring for an exclusive white man's government. The pretenses they made then of being in favor of equal civil rights were all false, as every pretense of theirs in favor of what is equality is likely to be.

——We copy the following from the Lawrence (Kansas.) Tribune. It gives an account of the murder of several men who will be well remembered and were related to a number of well known citizens of Burnside twp., this county:

From Captain Abram Cutler, who returned yesterday from the scene of horrible tragedy, we gether the following particulars:

It seems that Capt O. F. Short's party, six in number, composed of Capt. Short, T. S. Short, and his son James Shaw, father-in-law of our old townsman, Joel S. White, Allen Shaw, son of James Shaw an old carrier boy of the Tribune and well-known to our patrons of the South route, H. C. Jones and J. H. Kushler were at work in the field forty miles south of Dodge city and about twenty miles west, when they were attacked, on the 24th of August, by what are supposed to be Cheyenne Indians, as arrows and other things indentified as belonging to this tribe were found near the place of the murder.

The remains of Short and party were discovered by a division of Thrasher's men, who were running a line. The scene at the camp told of violence; the dead carcasses of the cattle and general destruction told a fearful tale.

The bodies had been dead two days when found by Thrasher's men, as by an examination of their work showed that they must have been attacked on the 24th, or two days before they were discovered.

Papers, pieces of instruments, &c., were found in a Cheyene camp, about 15 miles distant, which were identified as belonging to Capt. Short and his men.

A band of twenty-five warriors of this tribe were seen near the scene of the horror, by Thrasher's men and are supposed to be the identical party who committed the awful deed.

Capt.—Cutler was one of the party who buried the remains of the fated party, so there can be no doubt of the authenticity of this fearful story.

Mr. Short was a partner of Mr. Cutler's in a surveying contract, and on old Kansas man, having lived here since '56. Mr. Short leaves a wife and family, also does Mr. Shaw, who resides in this city.

Mr. Short had effected an insurance on his life of $2,000 only a short time before he left for the surveying.

SHALL THERE BE A REFORM?

The farmer has already commenced the harvesting of his crops, and in so doing is performing the first necessary steps toward securing the results of the season's labors. If he has performed all the work himself or with the aid of his boys, he ought to be able to know something near what the several crops have cost him, and this surely he must know if he has found it necessary to hire labor to carry on his farm, and which he must pay from the products sold. He must be able to tell what he can afford to sell for in order to pay his bills and leave a reasonable profit. Now-a-days, there is nothing the farmer raises for which there is not, generally, a ready market. Hay, eggs, butter, beans, wool, chickens—anything, is sure to find a good market at good prices. But unfortunately for the farmer he is not situated so he can dispose of his products directly to the consumer and get the best prices for them.

We have in the past called the attention of the farmers to some facts in relation to this matter, among other things the importance of establishing a market house or place in Bellefonte, to this end, that the producer and consumer may be brought nearer together. We have also taken particular pains of late to give the Bellefonte market reports as near correct as it is possible to get them, making comparison between this and the Philadelphia markets, so that every facility may be given to the farmer to know the prices of his products, so that he shall not be imposed upon by unscrupulous and crafty speculators. One great trouble is, that the producer and consumer are, and have been, too far apart, and between them there is too much taken out of the products raised by the farmer, which goes into the hands of the middle-men, increasing the cost of the products to the consumer and reducing the profits of the producer. It is true the middle-man is necessary—but he should not be allowed to take the "lion's share." It has been too much the case heretofore that the buyers have set their own prices. It is not what will the farmer take, but what will the merchant give? Sometimes the buyer goes about the country contracting for the products grown upon the farm, and generally, he tries to make farmers think the particular article which he wants to purchase is very plenty in the market, that a heavy crop has been raised in the West or somewhere else, and the price is low in the Bellefonte or Philadelphia markets.

By such stories he endeavors to obtain a promise of what the farmer has to spare, and as he is generally a "good fellow" the farmer concludes to let him have his crop. Now just so long as this plan is pursued, just so long will our farmers be burdened with debt, taxes, and the support of this great army of non-producers—who really derive their support from the hard earnings of the farmer, so that the farmer, besides supporting his own family, is really supporting one or two other families, indirectly, through the exhorbitant rates which are gobbled up by the man who is a "go-between."

Now as the crops are coming in at the close of another season, let our farmers well consider if they will submit to this plan longer, or if they will not attempt a reform in the matter. There is no reason why the farmer should not get nearer the price paid by the consumer than he has been getting—there is no reason why he should allow all the profits of his business to go to agents, (for these men are only after all acting as his agents,) and he get really less than his crops cost him. Who wonders that while the farmer works hard he is still poor, that his stock is indifferent, his house weather worn, his fields impoverished, when he is continually selling his products at a price actually below the cost of production? Why should not the farmer get an actual profit of fifty cents a bushel on his wheat, ten cents a pound on his poultry, five cents a dozen on his eggs, instead of selling them below cost? If farmers sell potatoes for forty cents a bushel which it costs fifty cents to raise, and for which they should get sixty—who wonders that they complain of hard times? Now is not a reform in this matter possible and practicable? Why may not the farmers of a neighborhood reckon up what amount of what kinds of products they will have for sale this fall, ascertain its price in the leading markets, and then either through some trusty agent of their own selection, or in some other way place their goods directly in the hands of the consumer, thereby obtaining a better price for their products, and at the same time furnishing it to the consumer for a less figure than they have been obtaining it for. Is anything to hinder? We know of large and independent farmers who so far as they and their products are concerned regulate the prices themselves. They have a large crop of wheat, corn, potatoes, apples, or a good clip of wool to dispose of, and sell directly to consumers or manufacturers, getting, always, the top price.

They have become independent by just such a course as this, and having become so, are able to keep so. They dictate terms; they say what they will take; they never ask "what will you give?" Now what one man can do who has a large surplus of one product to dispose of, a dozen farmers, acting through one of their number may do, in the selling of their crops. And we believe it is possible for some plan to be put into execution this fall, that shall inaugurate a new and better method of marketing the products of the farm. Let our readers canvass this matter, and send us their views upon it, that through our columns the opinions of others may be obtained and a better market system adopted.

PROTECTION AT THE SOUTH.

Notwithstanding the howl raised by a great many Democratic journals against Federal interference, the action of the President in directing the Secretary of war to use United States troops under direction of the Attorney General, for protection of loyal citizens in the Southern States meets with the unqualified approval of every fair minded citizen. The Watchman's cry of "How long? O Lord! How long?" which appeared in their last issue is just what we might expect from journals which do not care to present things in their true light, and when we come to consider that the outrages committed throughout the South have been inspired by their political friends, the Southern Democracy. The assertion that "there is not a single disorderly element in those states, except such as the Radical imagination for electioneering purposes manufacturers," is contrary to all the information received from all these states from every source, either public or private. In our late journey East, we met many persons hurrying home to these states who had received information of the troubles there from private letters, the details of which were even more horrible than the published accounts.

That there is no protection for either life or property in many parts of Arkansas, Louisiana, Tennessee, Kentucky and other southern states is too strong to admit of the least shadow of a doubt, and that the present unsettled state of affairs is the direct and legitimate results of Democratic teaching, and Democratic sympathy with the traitors is clear and plain. The democratic press all through the North like the Watchman here in Centre county, belittle the infamous outrage and attempt to lull the people to sleep or into indifference, while loyal citizens of the Republic are being outraged and murdered, as was the case in Gibson county, Tenn., where sixteen persons were taken from the Trenton jail, their hands tied, and then massacred in cold blood by the mob. This is but one instance, but there are many. In the state of Kentucky murder is as common as daylight, while in the state of Arkansas, they have broken out in open rebellion. Indeed, matters have reached such a deplorable state that the newspaper press of the South are sounding the alarm. How foolish then, is the assertion of the Watchman that "there is not a single disorderly element in these states.

That it is the duty of the Government to protect her citizens everywhere no honest democrat will deny—indeed, is not this good democratic doctrine?

The butchery of American citizens by a Spanish official at Santiago aroused a feeling of indignation throughout the land. The Government promptly responded to the popular feeling and put itself in a war-like attitude to redress the wrong done. The prompt compliance on the part of Spain to our demands averted a war which at first seemed inevitable. Years ago the gallant Ingram of our navy cleared his decks for action, and threatened to open fire on an Austrian frigate if Martin Kosta, a naturalized citizen who had been seized by the Austrian officials was not given up. Ingram held that the American flag carried protection to its citizens wherever it floated, and the nation rang with applause when Daniel Webster transformed the deed of Ingram into logic and sent it to Hulseman as a rule of conduct which would govern the Republic hereafter. If a tenth of the outrages committed on American citizens in the South should be committed by France or England, war would be declared in less than thirty days. To tolerate it longer would be a crime; to refuse to demand the punishment of the offender would be national cowardice. If States are unwilling or powerless to arrest the lawless bands within their limits the Government must treat these bands as public enemies, and arrest and punish them wherever found. Law abiding citizens can not object to governmental protection; they will accept it as the sign of peace and prosperity. The protest against it will come from those who have connived at the crimes committed, and who have encouraged the persecution of those who have been loyal to the flag which these oppressors once endeavored to destroy. In the name of the millions of loyal hearts everywhere, we thank the President for his timely action. It will come as sunshine, bursting through a cloudy sky to thousands of humble homes in the South. It will banish terror and strengthen hope. It will be hailed by the loyalists throughout the South as the bow of promise. "God bless the President, and keep the Republic in the hands of loyal men" will be the universal prayer of a people who have sacrificed much to save the nation, and who are willing to sacrifice more to protect its citizens.

——The Veteran Club of Centre County held it's first annual pic-nic in Milesburg last Thursday. Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, quite a large number of the veterans of our several wars were present, and a successful and pleasant meeting was enjoyed. Music was furnished by the Bellefonte band, who, in their new uniform, made a very fine appearance. Remembering the many difficulties the Mountain City boys have had to overcome, we think they are worthy, and have no doubt they will recieve all the encouragement they can expect from a generous public. The weather being stormy, the Trustees of the Methodist church, kindly tendered the use of that building, which was crowded to its utmost capacity. Gen. Beaver, the President of the organization, made a few opening remarks, stating the objects of the association, and inviting all honorably discharged soldiers and sailors to join, and during the day seventy-three names were placed upon the Roll Book. While the Roll Book was being signed, and the members were getting their certificates from the Treasurer, all not thus engaged, were invited to the basement, where a most sumptuous repast was served by the ladies. We tried to do our duty as a reporter, and test the quality of all the different articles furnished to tickle the palate, but unfortunately we got a little too near the dignitaries of the association. We have heard of the gallant charges and fearless assaults in which these brave men won laurels that will be remembered long after they are dead, but never did they conduct themselves with more bravery and distinction, than on this occasion. In an incredibly short space of time not a remnent was left upon their table, and they turned around and began to help themselves from ours. Then we saw that all chance was gone; cake, pies, chickens, cold ham, beef and all the delicacies piled upon that table were devoured with a rapidity and relish which in itself was an eloquent expression of appreciation of the efforts of our fair friends to satisfy the cravings of a pic-nic appetite, and a recklessness of consequences which would have spread a sweet smile of expectancy over the countenances of the panic stricken doctor and undertaker. After the last morsel had disappeared, we managed by a good deal of caution to move ourself out into the open air, where we smoked a segar under the protection of an umbrella.

At two o'clock the bell was rung and the [illegible] assembled in the auditorium of the church where the exercises were opened by singing 'America,' followed by prayer by Rev. W. M. Memniger, pastor of the church. Chairman Beaver called for the veterans of the war of 1812 to come upon the platform and the following venerable gentlemen came forward: Wm. Gill, James Arthur and Benj. Frank.

The veterans of the Mexican war were called for, and Wm. Sharp came forward. The chair made a few remarks introducing General W. H. Blair, who spoke as follows:

[illegible] Ladies, I am [illegible] with the line of [illegible] pursue I met co- [illegible] President I was [illegible] Burnside's b[illegible]re at [illegible] years ago [illegible] and veter[illegible] but before me sits the one [illegible], Wm. Besides, who with a squad of Centre Co. men, crossed along with me. I did not intend to allude to that day, nor to any of the incidents of that terrible battle. It does not become me to to do so. I see there the brother of the the President lying with his face to the field, and his feet to the foe. But why recall those terrible pictures of twelve years ago,—20,000 men lying dead and wounded on both sides of that river, mustered out for promotion? God grant we may never see such scenes again.

This Veteran Club of which an organization has been effected to-day, is designed to embrace every honorably discharged soldier and sailor in Centre Co. There were Companies of Centre Co. soldiers in 13 regiments varying from 7 companies down to one, and I design to show to our friends where our soldiers were, and what they were doing. We had companies in the 1st, 2nd, and 7th Cavalry, 5th Reserves, 45th, 49th, 51st, 53rd, 56th, 93rd 148th, 184th, and 200th Pa. Vol., while we had individual soldiers and squads in nearly every regiment of the Federal government scattered all over the South, fighting in all the important battles. The regiments in which we had companies of CentreCo. soldiers were engaged in the following battles.

Yorktown, 49th, 53th, 93rd.
Williamsburgh, 49th, 93rd.
White Oak Swamp, 49th, 53rd.
Fair Oaks, 53rd, 93rd.
Malvern Hill, 43rd, 93rd, 5th Reserves.
South Mountain, 45th, 51st 56th, 5th Res.
Antictam, 45th, 49th, 51st, 53rd, 56th 5th Res.
Fredericksburg, 1st. Cav, 45th, 49th, 51st, 53rd, 93rd, 5 Res.
Chancellorsville, 53rd, 56th, 148th.
Gettysburgh, 1st Cav, 2nd Cav, 53rd, 56th, 93rd, 148th, 5th Res.
Vicksburg, 45th, 51st.
Mine Run, 1st Cav, 2nd Cav, 53rd 56th, 148th.
Coal Harbor, 1st Cav, 45th, 49th, 51st, 93rd, 148th, 184th.
Reams Station, 1st Cav, 2nd Cav, 51st, 53rd, 148th, 184th.
Wilderness, 45th, 49th, 51st, 53rd, 56th, 93rd, 148th, 184th.
Spottsylvania, 45th, 49th, 51st, 53rd, 56th, 93rd, 148th.
North Anna, 45th, 53rd, 56th, 148th.
Weldon Rail Road, 45th, 51st, 56th.
Petersburgh, 45th, 49th, 51st, 53rd, 56th, 93rd, 148th, 184th, 200th.

In addition to these important and bloody battles the First Cavalry were engaged at Drainesville, Cross Keys, Cedar Mountain, Gainesville, Brandy Station and Culpepper.

2nd Cav. Cedar Mountion, Todds Tavern, Fortification of Richmond, Trevallion station, St. Mary's Church, Charles City Cross Roads, Wyatts Farm, Boydtown Road, Deep Bottom, Chantilly.

7th Cav. Perrysville, Murfreesboro, Stone River, Shelbyville, besides innumerable minor engagements and skirmishes.

5th Reserves, 2nd Bull Run, Charles City Cross Roads, Mechanicsville, Gainesville.

45th P. V. James Island, Capture of Vicksburg, Jackson, Blue Spring, Campbell's Station, Siege of Knoxville.

49th P. V. Marye's Heights, Salem Heights, and Occoquan.

51st P. V. Roanoke, Newbern, Camden, 2nd Bull Run, Chantilly, Hatchers Run, Campbell Station, Capture of Vicksburg, Siege of Knoxville, Jackson.

53rd P. V. Gaines Mill, Peach Orchard, Savage Station, Bristoe Station, Po River, Tolopotomy, Deep Bottom Strawberry Plains.

56th P. V. Gainesville, Bull Run, Cedar Mountain, Manassas, Upperville, Bethesda Church, and Hatchers Run.

93rd P. V. Marye's Heights, Salem Heights, Occoquan, Fishers Hill, Cedar Creek.

148th P. V. Bristoe Station, Po River, Tolopotomy, Strawberry Plains and Deep Bottom.

184th P. V. Deep Bottom and Boydtown Road.

200 P. V. Fort Steadman, Petersburg.

The General then gave statistics, showing that, while the rebellion was as sanguinary as the most bloody wars of Europe, yet our hospital arrangements for the care of the sick and wounded were unequaled by those of any army in the world, giving the aggregate loss by disease of all Union forces as one out of every twelve, while the loss of Pennsylvania considered separately, was only one out of every twenty-four. He gave as a reason for this last showing that there was in the Executive Chamber at Harrisburg, an eye that never slept while the interests of the Pennsylvania sick and wounded were to be looked after. He then closed his remarks by referring to the several soldier's homes which had been established for the benefit of those not provided for by our pension laws out of the fines imposed upon the unworthy soldier, the deserter and bounty jumper, an involuntary contribution of the bad soldier to the good—showing that ample provisions have been made for all, and that no worthy soldier need ask alms upon our thoroughfares.

General Blair was listened to attentively. At the conclusion of his address, the regular business of the Club was taken up as follows:

Hon. Andrew G. Curtin, Gen. John I. Curtin and Col. Theodore Gregg were elected honorary members. Boalsburg was fixed as the next place of meeting. The committee on badges offered two very handsome designs for either gold or silver; one represented plain gold shield, arm of service, with name of club on face and space on reverse side for owner's name. It was decided that the names of the deceased Centre county soldiers be enrolled in such a manner as the executive committee may decide.

It was agreed that the Club as a body would visit the meeting of the Penn. Reserve Corps association at Williamsport, next June. Votes thanks were tendered as follows: To the people of Milesburg for kind and hospitable reception and entertainment; to the Trustees of the Methodist church for use of the same, to Gen. Blair for his address, and to the publishers of the REPUBLICAN and Watchman and the Prothonotary for favors extended. The Veteran Club of Centre County, then adjourned.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

THE NEST.

Under the apple-tree somebody said,
"Look at the robin's nest overhead!
All of sharpsticks, and of mud and clay—
What a rough home for a summer day!"
Gaunt stood the apple-tree, guant and bare
And creaked in the winds which blustered there.
The nest was wet with the April rain;
The clay ran down in an ugly stain;
Little it looked, I must truly say,
Like a lovely home for a summer day.

Up in the apple-tree somebody laughed,
"Little you know of the true home-craft.
Laugh if you like, at my sticks and clay;
They'll make a good home for a summer day.
May turns the apple-tree pink and white,
Sunny all day, and fragrant all night.
My babies will never feel the showers,
For rain can't get through these feathers of ours
Snug under my wings they will cuddle and creep,
The happiest babies awake or asleep,"
Said the robin-mother flying away
After more of the sticks and mud and clay.

Under the apple-tree somebody sighed,
"Ah me, the blunder of folly and pride!
The roughest small house of mud and clay
Might be a sweet home for a summer day.
Sunny and fragrant all day, all night,
With only good cheer for fragrance and light
And the bitterest storms of grief and pain
Will beat and break on that home in vain,
Where a true-hearted mother broods away
And makes the whole year like a summer day."

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

Poetry.

A STEARLING OLD STORY.

What shall judge man from his manner?
Who shall know him by his dress?
Paupers may be fit for princes,
Princes fit for something less.
Crumpled shirt and dirty jacket
May beclothe the golden ore;
Of the deepest thoughts and feelings—
Satin vest can do no more.

There are streams of crystal nectar
Ever flowing out of stone;
There are purple beds and golden,
Hidden, crushed and overthrown,
God, who counts by souls, and not by dresses,
Loves and prospers you and me,
While he values thrones the highest
But as pebbles in the sea.

Man upraised above his fellows,
Oft forgets his fellows then;
Masters—rulers—lords, remember
That your meanest kinds are men;
Men of labor, men of feeling,
Men of thoughts, and men of fame,
Claiming equal rights to sunshine
In a Man's ennobling name.

There are foam-embroidered oceans,
There are little wood-clad rills;
There are feeble inch-high sapplings,
There are cedars on the hills.
God, who counts by souls, not stations,
Loves and prospers you and me;
For to him all vain distinctions
Are as pebbles in the sea.

Toiling hands alone are builders
Of a nation's wealth and fame;
Titled lazyness is pensioned,
Fed and fattened on the same;
By the sweat of other's foreheads,
Living only to rejoice,
While the poor man's outraged freedom
Vainly lifts its feeble voice.

Truth and justice are eternal,
Born with loveliness and light;
Secret wrongs shall never prosper
While there is a sunny right.
God, whose world wide voice is singing
Boundless love to you and me,
Links oppression with its titles,
But as pebbles in the sea.

THE OPEN GATE.

There is a gate stands open wide,
And through its portals, gleaming
A radiance from the cross afar,
The Saviour's love revealing.

Cho.—Oh! depths of mercy! can it be,
That gate stands open wide for me?
Stands open wide, both night and day,
Stands open wide for me.

That open gate stands free for all
Who seeks through it Salvation;
The rich, the poor, the great and small,
Of every tribe and nation.

It open stands for old and young,
Though filled with joy or sorrow;
The spirit woos our soul along—
Who wait until to-morrow.

Oh! sinners, waken from your guilt,
Nor let your heart deceive you;
For you the blood of Christ was spilt;
He's waiting to receive you.

Oh! Blessed Spirit, lead me in,
And let me falter never;
Make me a victor over sin;
I'll praise Thee then forever.

Press onward then, tho' foes may frown,
For Mercy's gate is open;
Accept the cross and win the crown:
Love's everlasting token.

Beyond the river's brink we lay
The cross that here is given.
And bear the crown of life away
And love Him more in Heaven.

JUDGE NOT!

How do we know what hearts have vilest sin?
How do we know?
Many, like sepulchres, are foul within,
Whose outward garb is spotless as the snow,
And many may be pure we think not so.
How near to God the souls of such have been,
What mercy secret penitence may win—
How do we know?

How can we tell who sinned more than we?
How can we tell?
We think our brother walked guiltily,
Judging him in self-righteousness. Ah, well!
Perhaps had we been driven through the hell
Of his untold temptations, we might be Less upright in our daily walk than he—
How can we tell?

Dare we condemn the ills that others do?
Dare we condemn?
Their strength is small, their trials not a few,
The tide of wrong is difficult to stem.
And if to us more clearly than to them
Is given knowledge of the good and true,
M[illegible] need our help [illegible]

[redacted]

over the [illegible] afternoon.—the 1st of June. A charitable breeze swept one scented bunch of bloom a bit aside, just out of the reach of a little brown hand that had a moment ago ruthlessly stripped off half its blossoms.

But the owner of the hand had already turned about with a toss of her black curls and a flirt of her pink calico dress, that scared the butterflies, and before the branch swung back she was hastening up the trim garden path, and flinging back a sharp speech over her shoulder at a tall, sunburned young fellow who with a vexed light in his eyes, stood in the gateway watching her.

"Oh, it don't matter what I think! Indeed, I don't think at all. You may take whom you like next May-dance—you won't take me."

It was such a pretty shoulder over which these words were cast, and there was such a rosy flush of anger on the round cheek half veiled in curls, that it is no wonder John Armitage took two or three steps in pursuit of the speaker; but he stopped, drew himself up with a sudden pride, and said one reproachful word.

"Nancy!"

The one addressed wavered a little in her retreat, then resumed it with increased celerity.

"Will you stop and listen to me?" the young man queried, his rising indignation somewhat modifying his tone of appeal.

"No!" and the pink calico swept the myrtles on either side of the walk faster yet.

"Very well," was the angry response, as he who had pleaded turned toward the gate. "But mark my words: you'll be sorry for this before these bushes here"—brushing the low sprays sharply aside—"are out of bloom! Now good-by."

Nancy, peeping from behind a curtain after his retreating figure, cried. Perhaps the soliloquy will tell why.

"Well, it's all over with us now, any way. It's his fault, too. He'd no business to take any one else to the May dance when I couldn't go. I shouldn't wonder if he's gone down to Sarah Anderson's now.—They'll be engaged next thing, and she'll crow over me finely. He'll try to make me jealous"—here Nancy had a spasm of crying. "See if I won't make him jealous first!"

The way she would do it became apparent the next afternoon, when, dressed in a jaunty blue suit that set off well her creamy complexion dark curls, and tinted cheeks, she started for the village. The dainty blue silk parasol was lowered a little as she came to the pretentious block of buildings opposite the hotel, upon one of which hung the sign, "Dr. Miles Gray. Office hours from 8 to 10 A. M., from 3 to 5 P. M." But the face of the building was blank and the office curtains lowered; so with an impatient exclamation under her breath, Nancy went on to the postoffice, where getting no letter she turned discontentedly toward home.

The fates [illegible]ade her. She had not accomplish[illegible] quarter of the distance before the l[illegible] of wheels made her turn her head and start perceptibly. In a moment more young Dr. Gray, whose nutty top-buggy was the '[illegible]' of all the men, and whose fascinat[illegible]ile had won the hearts of all the [illegible]en, had drawn up his horse at her [illegible] and leaped to the ground, and had [illegible]ed, eagerly.

"Miss Evans, may I have the pleasure of driving you home?"

The color brightened in Nancy's cheeks, the light in her eyes, as she assented with a charming smile; and in a moment they were slowly bowling along the road, and the blue ribbons were blown against the doctor's broad-cloth.

Dr. Gray was young, handsome, not deficient in brains with pocket money enough [illegible]t to prevent him from being tragically [illegible]ve with his profession, and very much [illegible]od by his [illegible] the connett[illegible] wom[illegible] little [illegible] she was [illegible]y, that [illegible]ld be [illegible] Miss B[illegible] yes [illegible]d of t[illegible] twelv[illegible] mir-ing, the corner[illegible] that sometimes curled [illegible] of the black mustache. But Nancy was minus a lover just then, the doctor was a "catch," and so she laughed and chatted as the bay horse trotted along.

The farm-house came in sight too soon, and the doctor stopped midway in a speech to inquire.

'Won't you take a longer ride? It's such a beautiful afternoon!'

Nancy demurred, as in duty bound.

'I—don't know. I guess it must be most tea-time.'

The doctor laughed, and held his watch before her. It was precisely four.

'Oh, well, then—' began Nancy, somewhat confused. 'But aren't these your office hours?'

'Confound my office hours!' commented the doctor to himself. Aloud he said n sometimes obliged to break through hours. I'm going now to see a patnt on the outskirts of the town.' So ey drove on.

The "patient" could hardly have been a critical state. The doctor leaning ck in the carriage, let the lines lie sely on the horses' back as they paced wly through shady wood roads smelling of pines, while the warm breeze fluted light curls across Nancy's arch black eyes, and the blue silk parasol had to be held up to keep the sun from her rose bud of a face. The doctor had a lurking fear that Nancy was rustic and ignorant, but ah! she was so pretty!

How far they rode in this lazy way, wholly rapt in conversation, is not known. How far they would have ridden is uncertain, if Nancy had not sent a mischievous glance straight into the gray eyes, and inquired.

'Why, where does that patient of yours live?'

The doctor laughted frankly, coloring nevertheless

'I see you understand the "ways that dark and the tricks that are vain" pretty well, Miss Nancy, and now I don't dare to tell you what I was going to before you spoke.'

'What was it?' queried Nancy curious and conscious.

'It was,' said the doctor, bending his own face closer to the curl-shaded one at his side, 'that I wish I had the right to keep you with me always. Miss Nancy will you look at me—will you let me?'

It was well the doctor did not guess why, amidst Nancy's bright blushes her lip quivered and her eyes filled with tears. She had made up her mind to accept the doctor, but in this decisive moment the thought of John Armitage sent a pang, cruel in intensity, thro' her heart. Then came the memory of yesterday's quarrel, and Nancy faltered, with a struggling smile:

'I—I don't know.'

She did not know when, in the late twilight, she and the doctor walked together in the dusky sitting-room at home where her father was dozing and her mother knitting, to ask their consent and blessing.

'Dear me!' said the good farmer, rubbing his eyes, 'Two sech pieces of news in one day's cur'us hereabouts. I heerd on'y an hour sence that Johnnie Armitage is a-goin' to Texas to kinder farm on his own account. I sorter thought, too, that he an' Nancy fancied each other, but here she's wantin' to marry to another man. It's cur'us!'

Nancy had taken her hand from the doctor's arm and had sat down in the window. She heard, mistily, comments and congratulations; she answered questions, laughed at jokes. She walked down to the gate with the doctor when he left, and stood there under the lilacs, his arm about her, replying to his tender talk; but when he was gone, leaving a farewell kiss on her lips, she rushed up stairs and threw herself on the bed in a perfect agony of sobbing that she could hardly stifle in the pillow.

The story of the next week is backneyed. Such happenings are too common, Nancy came and went like the ghost of herself, but the whole village was gossipping over her engagement, and her evidences of trouble were ascribed to the "queerness of a girl just engaged." Little tired Mrs. Armitage ran over across lots one afternoon to tell the Evanses that John was going Monday, and she guessed he would manage to get over and bid them good-by; and cried because her pet son was going away, and was cool and sharp to Nancy evidently suspecting that she was the cause.

Perhaps light natures suffer most, overwhelmingly. Often in those beautiful June days Nancy, all alone in some shadowy, grassy place, with sunbeams shimmering above would wonder in a dim, childish way if she should not "die when John went." Only one hope was left: John was coming to say good-by. Oh, if she could only let him know how it really was! But how could she? and she would look down despairingly at the little gold circlet on her finger.

Sunday afternoon John finally came. Nancy, sitting in the parlor with the doctor, caught a glimpse of the well-known figure at the gate under the lilacs again. For a moment the room whirled around, and she was deathly white; then she rose mechanically, saying that she must bid Mr. Armitage goodby, and went out to the doorway, where John was greeting her parents, and warding of the Newfoundland with a laugh.

'Yes,' he was replying, as Nancy came up, 'they say there's a pretty good chance out there for a young fellow with health and energy—How do you do, Miss Nancy?—and I've always been enterprising; so I mean to try it.'

Nancy stood pulling the rose vines in pieces while for an half an hour the others talked crops, politics and prospects. She could not have spoken for her life, though she longed to speak as a condemned criminal longs to ask mercy. Not once did John turn his obstinate auburn head to look at or to speak to her, and at last he rose to go. He interrupted himself, while detailing particulars about grazing lands, to say "good-by," while he just touched her hand. If he had looked at her, the miserable pathetic look of appeal on her childish face would have gone straight to his heart; but he did not dare to look, and turning away abruptly, walked down the garden path with the garulous old farmer hobbling by his side. Nancy had just time to escape her mother's eye by running up the stairs. She did not faint; but God forbid that girls should often know such misery as she suffered then! When she at last joined the doctor, as in duty bound, the stunned look in her face was pitiful. She "was not well" she said in answer to his alarmed queries.

It was Nancy who proposed that they go to church that evening. In the corner of the high old pew, with her veil hiding her face, she could at least be quiet, and one hour more of effort would have been insupportable. Mrs. Armitage was alone in her pew, and cried silently all thro' the service. Nancy's heart so went out to the poor woman that, when they met in the aisle, she pressed her hand impulsively, saying in a quick whisper, 'Mrs. Armitage, I'm sorry for you!'

'I don't want any of your sorrow!' was the sharp response. 'It's fine to talk; but you and I know very well who's the cause of it all. One word from you would stop it now if you were "sorry" enough.'

Poor Nancy! The clock was on the stroke of eleven that night when her lover finally took his leave, and she was free to pace the moon-light sitting room from end to end with set lips and wide, glittering eyes. She did not cry. She felt as if she were going crazy, and in her desparation she did not care if she did. Hour after hour passed, and still she paced there, till her rigid face showed white in the first faint gray in the morning. 'Oh, would he go? could he go? would nothing happen to stop him? Scarcely knowing what she was doing, Nancy slipped through the door, and hatless, trailing her dainty blue skirt through the drewy grass, ran across lots to the Armitages.'

It was all still and dark and dewy. She heard the village clock strike three as she paused on the outskirts of the old-fashioned flower garden behind the house, and shrunk behind a hedge of blossomy lilacs, whose potent odor sickened her. Her mind was in a whirl. She did not know why she was there, or what she should do. She was in deadly fear lest some one should discover her, yet she could not go away. For half an hour she crouched there shiveringly, never taking her eyes off John's window, but starting every time the curtain blew. Suddenly a step on the garden path startled her so violently that she scarcely could suppress a scream. It was probably some of the work-people—oh, if they should see her! A hasty peep through the bushes showed her that it was worse than that; it was John himself, striding straight toward the gap in the hedge, and wearing a most unpropitious face. Nancy, in blind terror of discovery, crawled on her hands and knees close under the lilacs. He had passed, he was almost by, when a bird that Nancy had disturbed flew out with loud chirpings. One end of the loosened blue sash had caught on a siff bough, and the color arrested his eye. Two strides brought him to the spot, and he stood with folded arms looking down at her a moment before his amazement found vent in the exclamation.

'Nancy!'

He had never seen such utter abandon and agony of shame as that with which the poor little maiden hid her face and cowered in the wet grass, with the cry.

'Oh, what shall I do? Don't speak to me! Go away!' and burst into a storm of tears.

For answer he gathered the little wet figure in his arms, smoothed the tumbled curls, tried to warm the icy hands, and did not dare to question, while he soothed her in his tenderest way.

'Take me home,' said Nancy, as soon as she found strength to speak at all.

'I shall do no such thing,' was the decided answer, as John's disengaged hand lifted her face so that he could see it, 'till your tell me why you came. Nancy, I couldn't help hoping a little when I saw you here. Don't make me give it up! I thought my pride would support me through anything, but I'm afraid it won't,' he ended sadly.

'I'm so glad it won't,' breathed Nancy, in tones of heart-felt relief. 'But somebody'll see us. Take me home, John, and I'll tell you all about it.'

How different seemed the way home, with John at her side. But Nancy was in no hurry to "tell all about it." She only said, nervously, holding John's hand in both hers.

'Promise me that you won't go away!'

'Ah, but I want another promise first.'

Nancy looked back at the plumy hedge whose shelter they had left, and said, with a half smile, 'You see the lilacs aren't out of bloom yet, John; and I am—sorry as you said I'd be!

'And the doctor?' asks the critical reader. Ah, Nancy is no model of Christian Maidenhood. She is only a faulty young girl, erring and loving and suffering, playing her part in one of the tragedies that are played everywhere in the springs and autumns in the time of snowdrifts as well as in the time of lilacs.

THE RASH MISTAKE.

"No tramps here," said I; and I shut the door in his face. The wind blew so I could hardly do it, and the sleet was beating on the pane and the bare trees were groaning and moaning just as if they suffered in the storm. "No tramps here I'm a lone woman, and I'm afraid of 'em."

Then, the man I hadn't seen yet for the dark, when away from the door—tramp, tramp, came through the slush, and I heard the gate creak as it always does; then tramp, tramp, came the man back again, and he knocked at the door—knocking not half so loud as he had before—and I opened it hot and angry. This time I saw his face, with yellow brown hair, cropped close, and great staring blue eyes; and he put his hand against the door, and held it open.

"How far is it to the next house, madam?" said he.

"Three miles or more," said I.

"And that is not a tavern?"

"No," said I; "no drinks to be got there, 'ti's Miss Mitten's and she's set against tramps as I am."

"I don't want anything to drink," said the man, "but I do want food. You need't be afraid to let me in, madam. I've been wounded—am not able to walk far—my clothes are thin, and it's bitter cold. I've been trying to get to my parrents at Greenbank, where I can rest till I am better; and all my money was stolen three days ago. You needn't be afraiid; just let me lie before the fire, and only give me a crust to keep me from starving, and the Lord will bless you for it."

And then he looked at me with his mild blue eyes in a way that would have made me do it, if it hadn't been that I had seen so many imposters. The war was just over, and every beggar that came along said he was a soldier traveling home, and had been robbed. One that I had been fool enough to assist, limped away out of sight, as he thought, and then, for I was at the garret window, shouldered his crutches and tramped it with the strongest.

"No doubt your pocket is half full of money," said I, 'and you only want a chance to rob and murder me. Go way with you,'

Drusilla, my niece, was baking short cake in the kitchen. Just then she came to the door, and motioned with her mouth to me—'Do let him stay aunty,' and if I hadn't had good sense I might, but I knew better than a girl of sixteen.'

'Go way with you,' said I, louder than before. "I wont have this any longer.'

And he gave a kind of groan, and took his hand from the latch, and went tramp, tramp, through the frozen snow again, and I thought him gone, when there he was once more, hardly a knock at all—a faint touch like a child's now.

And when I opened the door he came quite in, and stood leaning on his cane, pale as a ghost his eyes bigger than ever.

'Well, of all impudence!' said I.

He looked at me, and said he, 'madam, I have a mother at Greenbank. I want to live to see her. I shall not if I try to go further to-night.'

'They all want to see their mothers,' said I, and just then it came into my mind that I hoped my son Charles, who had been a soldier—an officer he had got to be, mind you, wanted to see his, and would soon.

'I've been wounded, as you see,' said he.

'Don't go a showing me your hurts,' said I. 'They buy 'em, so they tell me, to go begging with now. I read the papers I tell ye, and I'm principled, so's our clergyman, agin giving anything, unless it's through some well organized society. Tramps are my abomination. And as for keeping all night, you can't except that of decent folks—go!'

Drusilla came to the door, and said—'Let him stay aunty,' with her 'lip' again, but I took no notion.

So he went and this time did not come back, and I sat down by the fire, and listened to the wind and sleet, and felt the warm fire, and smelt the baking cakes, and the apples stewing, and the tea drawing on the kitchen stove; and I ought to have been very comfortable, but I wasn't. Something seemed tugging at my heart all the time.

I gave the fire a poke, and lit another candle to cheer myself by, and I went to the work-basket to get the sack I had been knitting, for my Charlie; as I went to get it, I saw something lying on the floor. I picked it up. It was an old tobacco pouch, ever so much like the one I gave to Charlie, with fringe around it, and written on it in ink, 'C. F. to R. H.' and inside was a letter; and when I spread it out I saw at the top—'My dear son.'

I knew the beggar must have dropped it, and my heart, gave one big thud, as though it had been turned into a hammer.

Perhaps his story was true, and he had a mother. I shivered all over, and the fire and the candles, and the nice comfortable smell, might just as well not have been at all, I was so cold and wretched.

And over and over again I had to say to myself what I had heard my pastor say so often, 'Never give anything to chance beggers, my friends; always bestow your charity on worthy persons, though well organized societies,' before I could get a bit of comfort. And what an old fool I was to cry, I thought, when I found that my cheeks were wet.

But I did not cry long, for as I sat there, dash and crash and jingle came a sleigh over the road, and it stopped at our gate, and I heard my Charlie's voice crying,—'Halloo, mother!' I went to the door, and had him in my arms,—my great, tall, handsome, brown son. And there he was in his uniform, with his pretty shoulder straps, and hearty as if he had never been through any hardships. He had to leave me to put up his horse; and then I had by the fire again my own boy. And Drusilla, who had been upstairs, and had been crying, came down in a flutter—for they were like brother and sister—and he kissed her, and she kissed him, and away she went to set the table for supper. How Charlie enjoyed it! But once, in the midst of all, and I felt a frightened feeling come over me, and I turned very pale, for Drusilla said, 'What is the matter, Aunt Fairfax?'

And I said nothing, but I thought I heard something like the ghost of a step, going tramp, tramp, over the frozen snow; kind o'like the ghost of a voice crying, 'Let me lie on the floor before the fire, and give me any kind of a crust;' kind o' like seeing some one that had a mother dropping down on the wintry road, and freezing and starving to death there.

Charlie and I drew up together by the fire, when tea was over, and he told us things about the war, I'd never heard before; how the soldiers suffered, and what weary marches and short rations they sometimes had. And he told me how his life had been set upon, and he was badly wounded; and how, at the risk of his own life a fellow had saved him, and carried him away, fighting his path back to camp.

'I'd never seen you but for him,' says my Charlie, '—and if there's a man on earth I love, it is Rob Hadway—the dearest, best fellow. We've shared each other's rations, and drank from the same canteen many a time; and if I ever had a brother I couldn't think more of him.

'Why don't you bring him home to see your mother, Charlie?' said I. 'Why' I'd love him too, and anything I could do for him, for the man who saved my boy's life, couldn't be loved enough. Send for him, Charlie.' But Charlie shook his head, and covered his face with his hands.

'Mother,' said he, 'I don't know whether Rob Hadway is alive or dead to-day. While I was still in the ranks he was taken a prisoner. And the prisons are poor places to live in, mother; I'd give my right hand to be able to do him any good; but I can find no trace of him. And he had a mother, too; she lives at Greenbank poor old lady! My dear, good, noble Rob, the preserver of my life!' And I saw Charlie crying. Not to let us see tears, he got up and went to the mantlepiece.

'Good Heavens! what is this?' And I turned, and Charlie had the tobacco pouch the man dropped, in his hand.

'Where did this come from?' said he. 'I feel as though I had seen a ghost. I gave this to Rob Hadway the day he saved me. We soldiers had not much to give, you know, and he vowed never to part with it, while he lived. How did it come here, mother?'

I fell back in my chair, white and cold, and said I, 'a wandering tramp left it here, never—never, your Rob, my dear, never your Rob. He must have been an imposter. I wouldn't have turned away a person really in want. Oh, no, no; it is another pouch, my child; not yours, or he stole it. A tall fellow, with blue eyes and yellow brown hair, wounded he said, and going to his mother at Greenbank. Not your Rob.'

And Charlie stood staring at me with clenched hands; and said he,—'It was my Rob; it was my dear old Rob who saved my life, and you have driven him out in such a night as this mother. My mother, to use Rob so!'

'Curse me, Charlie,' said I, 'curse me, if you like; I'm afraid God will. Three times he asked me only for a crust, and a place to lie, and I drove him away. I—I—and he's lying on the road now. Oh! if I had known—'

And Charlie caught up his hat. 'I'll find him if he's alive,' said he. 'Oh, Rob! my dear friend!'

And then—I never saw the girl in such a flurry—down went Drusilla on her knees, as if she was saying her prayers, and says, 'I thank God I dared to do it!' And she says to me, 'O, Aunt, I've been trembling with fright, not knowing what you'd say to me. I could not see him so faint and hungry, and wounded, and I put him in the spare chamber over the parlor, and I have been so frightened, all the while.'

'Lord bless you, Drusilla,' said Charlie, and 'Amen,' said I. And she, getting bolder, went on: 'And I took him up some hot short-cake, and apple-sauce and tea,' says she, 'and I took a candle, and a hot brick for his feet, and told him to eat, and go to bed in the best chamber, Aunt Fairfax, with the white counterpane.'

After this, Charlie, not being ungrateful, or poor either, helped Rob into business. And he got over his wounds at last, and grew as handsome as a picture.

In the year 1813, when James Buchannan was United States Senator, he wrote a letter to a citizen of Lewisburg, in this State, which has a bearing on one or two of the political questions of the present day. Among other thing he said:

'Every day renders the great truth more and more manifest in our country, that all men are equal, and that there ought to be no distinctions among us except those which arise from superior wisdom and virtue. I hope yet to see the day when every child born in Pennsylvania shall have the same right to receive a common education as to breathe the native air; and when this shall be accomplished, every youth shall have a fair start, and superior merit alone can win the race.'

Horace Greeley, just before his nomination for the Presidency by the Baltimore Democratic Convention, said, publicly:

'With regard to our common schools, where the rural district contains but twenty or thirty families, it is simply impossible, where two or three of these are colored, to have separate schools; and in those cases, to say that black children shall not go to school with white is to say they shall not have any school whatever.'

Yet this is what the Democracy of Pennsylvania, through their accredited leaders, to-day insist upon. They would have the foremost State of the Union change front to the rear on the dark ages.

A ONE-LEGGED soldier, a Mormon, recently asked Brigham Young to supply by a miracle, the missing limb; but the apostle, not to be caught, made this reply: "I can in an instant produce a new leg in the place of the old one, but then you see, if I do, it will cause great inconvenience to you in heaven; for after your exaltation to glory the original leg will come back to the spiritual body; mine also being of Divine origin becomes immortal, and, in this case, observe how very awkward a three-legged angel from Utah would appear among the inhabitants of the eternal world!"

A HINT TO ALL.

If the world seems cold to you,
Kindle fires to warm it!
Let their comfort hide from you
Winters that deform it.
Hearts as frozen as your own
To that radiance gather;
You will soon forget to mourn,
"Ah! the cheerless weather!"

If the world's a "vale of tears,"
Smile, till rainbows span it;
Breathe the love that life endears—
Clear from clouds to fan it.
Of your gladness learn a gleam
Unto souls that shiver;
Show them how dark sorrow's stream
Blends with hope's bright river;

A WIFE of nearly ten years, giving her servant a holiday, was attending to culinary matters herself, and hearing her husband coming into the kitchen, thought she would surprise him, as soon as he opened the door, by throwing her hands over his eyes and imprinting a kiss on his brow, as in the honeymoon. The husband returned the salute with interest. "Mary darling! where is your mistress?" The wife discharged "Mary darling," the next day, and has adopted a new plan of "surprising her husband."

"FIVE more Radicals killed, and firing still going on along the whole line," is the wording of a Shreveport, Louisiana, dispatch, intended for a Democratic politician at New Orleans, but which accidently fell into the hands of another person of the same name. This simple two line dispatch tears the veil from whatever mystery may have hung over the cause of the Southeren riots and butcheries.

THE editor of the Burlington (Ia.) Hawkeye has discovered a woman who will get up at six o'clock, kindle the fire, get breakfast, rout out the family, wash the dishes and six children, sew a button the neck of her husband's shirt and hunt his hat, go to a mission Sunday-school, read the Sunday-school papers to the children, go to church at night, and talk on her way home about Sunday as a "day of rest."

A YANKEE poet thus breaks forth: Oh! the snore, the beautiful snore, filling the chamber from ceiling the floor! Over the coverlet, under the sheet, from her wee dimpled chin to her pretty feet! Now rising aloft like a bee in June; now flute-like subsiding, then rising again is the beautiful snore of Elizabeth Jane.

THE Milwaukee Sentinel relates that while a prominent preacher of that city was recently making a pastoral visit, the lady brought out a number of engravings she had just purchased. The cautious pastor flew through the front door, and sent his boy around for his hat afterward.

ACCORDING to the Courts, when a man kills another for seducing his wife, he is crazy. According to the papers, as developed in the last phase of the Beecher-Tilton nastiness, when a man don't shoot his pastor for seducing his wife, but condones the offense, he is crazy too. Queer world isn't it?

AN Irishman, who, having jumped in the water to save a man from drowning, upon receiving sixpence from the person as a reward for the services looked first at the sixpence and then at him, and then exclaimed, "Be dad! I'm overpaid for the job.'

A MAN advertises for a competent person to undertake the sale of a new medicine—and adds that "it will prove highly lucrative to the undertaker."

THE question in brief—Woman's natural rights are to love and to be loved. If she had those, we should hear little of her political needs.

Iron in the Blood

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing* Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

Ayer's
Sarsaparilla

Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the system and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing reputation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great corruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities or diseases that have lurked in the system for years soon yield to this powerful antidote, and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions, and eruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrhœa, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even where no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of life.

COSMOLINE

☞COSMOLINE is the concentrated extract of the healing properties of Petroleum, which are known. It is the most bland and soothing remedy ever used; beside possessing more healing power than any substance or compound ever prepared. It is for almost all the daily casualties which occur in household, the workshop, or on the farm, as well as for many of the diseases which afflict humanity.

Nature's Sovereign Remedy

FOR BURNS AND SCALDS
It is invaluable, cooling and soothing the injured parts at once, and producing a perfect cure in a very short time, without leaving any scars. For this purpose alone, it is

A BLESSING TO THE WORLD,
FOR FROSTED LIMBS, COSMOLINE is fully as efficacious as for burns and scalds, restoring a healthy action to the injured parts very quickly. It is also the best possible remedy for Chilblains and Chapped Hands.
FOR RHEUMATISM especially Inflammatory, most forms of NEURALGIA, swelling of Limbs or Glands, COSMOLINE affords in the shortest possible time the HAPPIEST RELIEF.

On CUTS AND BRUISES, the action of COSMOLINE is almost magical. If promptly applied, it prevents soreness, and the wounds heal very rapidly.
FOR PILES, it has proved to be an unequalled remedy, and many a sufferer has blessed the day of its introduction.
FOR SKIN DISEASES we can recommend it with the greatest confidence, especially for Salt-Rheum, Tetter, Eczema, etc., and Teething humours.
We might go on enumerating the many other conditions for which it is unequalled, but will only add that wherever there is inflammation from any cause, COSMOLINE brings a rapid and happy relief, and will be the dependence under all circumstances. COSMOLINE is Prescribed by the best physicians, both allopathic and homeopathic. It is NOT A PATENT MEDICINE,

HOUSEHOLD SURGEON'S
but nature's own production, brought into an agreeable and pleasant condition, and is as safe to use anywhere as fresh cream.

No other Bitters in the universe can equal them. I lack space for detailing the availability of these Bitters, but will briefly state its general effects upon the human system, as follows:
It absolutely Purifies the Blood. It speedily corrects all morbid changes in the Blood. It equalizes the circulation of the Blood. It regulates the supply and quality of the blood. It prepares the Blood to furnish a proper support to all the vital properties. It enriches the constituents of the Blood upon which the vital energy of the system is dependent. It infuses the proper degree of animal heat in the system. It purges from the system the morbid humors which retard its natural functions. It imparts vitality and elasticity to every organ of the body. It corrects all derangements, however trivial, which are the first origin of Disease. It promotes the operation of the digestive organs. It improves the appetite and removes all disagreeable feeling after eating. It perfects digestion, rendering it natural and easy. It acts as a mild and efficacious stomachic. It elevates the standard of all the vital forces. It strengthens the nervous fibres and diffuses vigor throughout the nervous system. It removes all morbid conditions of the mind. It disperses dullness and languor. It banishes those clogs upon pleasure which produce gloom, and drives away those distressing symptoms which rob us of happiness. It revives the drooping energies by infusing new life and power into the system. It fortifies the system against the dangers of malaria, fluctuations of the temperature changes in the climate, &c. In short, it prepares the system for the radical change to be wrought in its condition, and restores it to perfect health and natural vigor.

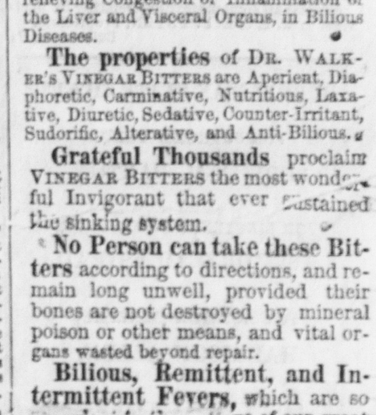
VINEGAR BITTERS



Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

OUR ASSOCIATED PRESS LETTER.

PHILADELPHIA, September 26, 1874.

A TEMPEST IN A TEAPOT.

Now that Henry Wilson, Vice President of the U. S., has written a letter to Mayor Stokley, of this city, in which he earnestly requests the Mayor to forego his hostily to Col. A. K. M'Clure as a Republican Candidate for the State Senate, this little local matter is invested with a national importance that warrants me in giving a brief resume of the situation.

The fourth senatorial district of Philadelphia has for the past three years been represented in the State Legislature by Col. A. K. M'Clure. In October 1871, Hon. George Connel was elected for his fifth term, by a republican majority of 7,341, and two weeks thereafter he died. When the legislature met in January following, Speaker Broadhead issued his writ for a special election, to take place on the 30th of January. At that election, Alexander K. M'Clure, running as an independent republican, on a platform that embraced "local political and municipal regeneration, but which would not endanger republican success in the Senate, or in the State or Nation" was elected over the regularly nominated candidate of the party by a majority of 210.

The term of Senator M'Clure having expired at the last session, a vacancy was created for which the republicans and democrats made party nominations. The nominee of the republican party withdrew a few weeks ago from the canvass and the convention is to be reconvened on next Wednesday to make another nomination. In the meantime quite a respectable number of gentlemen, regardless of party affiliations, have united in a request to Col. M'Clure to again become a candidate, while leading politicians, from Vice President Wilson, down to James M. Sellers—private citizen—are laboring assiduously to bring about his nomination by the republican caucas next week.

The Governor's Secretary, M. S. Quay, State Treasurer Robert W. Mackey, Sheriff Elliott, District Attorney Mann, City Treasurer Widener, and plain William H. Kemble—if I except his title as Bank President—are the gentlemen most active in the effort to make M'Clure the party candidate. Against them are Mayor Stokley, Alderman McMullin and the Hon. Sam. Josephs, who are working like bees in a tar barrel against M'Clure.

Precisely what the result will be cannot be predetermined. In the event of the Convention nominating a candidate who is in accord with the legislative record of Col. M'Clure, this gentleman will not be a candidate. If a tool of the ring is put forward Col. M'Clure will yield to the request of those who invite him to become a candidate and will enter into the contest with a determination to win. If Mackey, Kemble and Quay cannot get away with the Mayor and his two Lieutenants they are confessedly bad managers.

BUTTER, ONE DOLLAR.

President Grant and his Premier purchase all the butter they use from the Darlington brothers, farmers in Delaware county, in this State. It is no Fishy tale I tell in announcing that the President and his first Secretary pay one dollar per pound for this Pennsylvania butter, and all express charges. Jared and Jesse Darlington who furnish the head of the nation with butter, make no concealment of their preference for Grant as a third-term President; and here let me observe is an element likely to enter into the national canvass—and what a strong element butter frequently is—that may make Grant the candidate of the Grangers, as well as of the bread-and butter brigade. If in order to maintain a dollar a pound for butter, it becomes necessary to again elect Grant, what butter-producing farmer is there in this country who will not stand by Jared and Jesse, of Delaware county, in their presidential preferment.

PENNSYLVANIA'S PRESIDENT.

The sober second thought leads the more considerate of General Hartranft's friends in this city to regard the action of the Harrisburg Convention, in formally presenting Governor Hartranft as the elect of Pennsylvania for President in 1876, as premature and of doubtful propriety. That act, they believe, makes Gov. Hartranft a public man whose every past, present and future official act will be closely scrutmized. One of his most circumspect friends remarked to me that: To blindly serve the politicians who surround him is to discount himself before the nation he seeks to serve: while to refuse pardon to the Russel's of political society is to vex, beyond the limit of forbearance, the party managers upon whose favor he is dependent.

ST. MARIE.

The reward of $25,000 offered by the United States for the capture of John H. Surratt was sufficiently large to tempt Henry Benjamin St. Marie to disclose the whereabouts of his friend Surratt. St. Marie died in this city a few days ago, as poor as a toothless horse fed on chaff, and as friendless as a mangy cur, covered with fleas. The Government paid St. Marie only $10,000 of the pledged reward, thus leaving a nice nest egg, in the Treasury for the human sharks, labelled claim agents, that swarm around Washington as thick as green flies around a dead monkey to scramble for.

Thomas Pugsley is the most beastly man in this city. He plead guilty a few days ago to a [illegible] less outrage upon his eight-aged [illegible] years, and then offered as a [illegible] drunkenness as the cause, and good character in mitigation of the crime. District Attorney Mann, however regarded it as a crime that deadened every impulse of human sympathy and Paul was sentenced to 16 years hard labor in the Penitentiary and a fine of $1,000. The purity of that child's mind cannot be restored, by any physical suffering imposed upon the brute; certainly the torments of hell are the punishment for all such; still I would not forget to express my gratitude to the Court that sent this man to the penal solitude and suffering of his gloomy cell.

INSURANCE FRAUDS.

In my letter of August 1st, I told how the People's Fire Iusurance Company of this city cheated Commissioner Foster by their borrowing stocks and bonds amounting to $100,000, which were returned to their owners immediately after Mr. Foster left the office of the company upon the occasion of his making an examination of its financial condition. I had occasion to record how another similar fraud was perpetrated upon the Insurance Commissioner. This time it is the Central Fire Insurance Company of Philadelphia, and not being able to come the borrowing dodge, the company purchased five certificates—in one share each—of Penna. R. R. stock, Lehigh Valley R. R., and Philadelphia & Reading R. R.; three certificates of New Jersey Central, and two certificates of Delaware, Lackawanna & Western R. R., making in all 20 certificates of one share each, with a par value of each share fixed at $50. These Certificates, representing a total par value of $1,000, were altered by "raising" to represent a value of $128,000, and had the company retained them in their possession the forgery might have remained a secret; but the Union banking company having lost $10,000 by negotiating one of these certificates for the Insurance Company the fraud has been made public, and the president arrested and put under $10,000 bail for procuring J. Nicholson Elbert and Chas. Ripley to do the "raising." In the meantime Commissioner Foster suspended the Central and demanded the closing up of the concern but Judge Pearson, of the Dauphin County Court, overruled the action of the Commissioner and gave the company six weeks time to make good the impairment of its capital. If somebody connected with the concern ain't making shoes in the Penitentiary before the close of Judge Pearson's six weeks I will confess to my being a poor prophet. As this company purposed branching out in flashy style all over the country I advise the readers of the "Associated Press Letter" to be upon their guard when the agent of the Central of Philadelphia comes along.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

James Tozier, a junk dealer aged 37 years, married, about one year ago, a young woman 13 years his junior, from whom he has twice separated during that time. During the early part of the week, Tozier went to his wife's room where she was living with her sister and handed her a note on which was written Sallie, I want to see you to get a bill of desertion, for I want you to go your road and I will go mine. The wife replied: this could have been told me upon the street without your coming to my room. Then in order that the wife should not go her way he immediately drew a pistol and fired one shot down her throat, carrying with it four of her teeth, and another directly through her eye into her brain, killing her instantly.

That Tozier might go his way—which was to the devil—he fired the third ball through his right temple, lodging it in what was presumed to be his left brain. In falling he fell directly across his wife's body and in that position they were found by the police.

NEW ORLEANS.

I stood upon the corner of Sixth and Chestnut Streets just as the news was placed upon the Public Ledger bulletin board; a great crowd immediately assembled and I would be derelict in my duty as a correspondent were I to fail in stating how that news was regarded by those present. One gentleman a prominent business man remarked: a few more such cases of bloodshed down South and the imperative necessity for a third term for Grant will become so apparent that he will be without an opposing candidate.

Another gentleman equally as prominent and influential and even more earnest in his manner observed: the interference by the President in the Gubernatorial contest in Louisiana which displaced McEnery to make room for Kellogg has brought about a wide spread tragedy; this thing will go on—as it is evidently intended it shall—until a military government becomes the only protection for life and property and the military rule that will maintain order in the South will make Grant again President and to which there must be submission or revolution throughout the nation.

The Evening Telegraph (Republican) holds Attorney General Williams and Congress responsible: while it regards Kellogg as an usurper who brings disgrace upon his party and disaster upon the community upon which he has fastened himself; it deprecates the action of the citizens which, it fears, will be regarded by the North only as rebels against the re-organized State Government and against the United States, and affording a proper pretext for Federal interference.

The Public Ledger, published by Geo. W. Childs who is a warm personal friend of the President regards it as deplorable because the executive power of the United States may have to be used in support of a State Government which there is ample reason to believe was never elected. But resorts to violence for the redress of political grievances must be met, when the constitutional call is made upon the National Executive, by the military force of the Government. The Ledger puts the blame wholly upon Congress which did nothing but appoint a committee to investigate the subject of the conflicting gubernatorial claims and then permitted the controversy to drift its own way. Each person seemed to be influenced in his remarks by the political prejudice prevailing in his mind, while all regarded it is the inevitable duty of the President to stop the further shedding of blood.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

GOLD 1.09¾

The little speck of war in New Orleans last week unsettled values for a day, and gold rose 1.10¼, but the prompt action of the government settled the action of the insurgents as well as the price of stocks. The money market in the chief cities has been but the counterpart of the preceding week. Call loans are quoted at 2@3 per cent. Prime business paper at 5@7 per ct. Next to the Louisiana affair we are called upon to record the victory of the grangers over the railroads in Wisconsin. The Potter law has been sustained by the Supreme Court of that state and the railroad companies have already announced their willingness to accede to its provisions. As we understand this law provides that the railroad companies of that state shall not charge more accordingly for local freight and passenger traffic than they do for through business. One of the companies announces as a consequence, that they must discharge a portion of their employees, put on slower freight trains and second class passenger cars.

COAL.—The bituminous coal trade on the seaboard, and in fact throughout the country, is quite as dull as the anthracite trade, and both will remain in the present condition until the iron trade, which is the great consumer of coal, revives. It is reported that the Pa. & Reading R. R. Co. propose working only half time at their workshops on the line owing to the depressed state of business. If so, the present indications for the ensuing winter look very gloomy, and the new rebellion inaugurated in the South by the democracy will also tend to depress business to some extent, by unsettling the South again.

We devote considerable space to the following article on grain which we quote from the New York Tribune. We look upon it as containing the most important information that we have seen since the last crop was harvested. It will repay farmers and grain dealers to give it a careful perusal.

GRAIN.—Since this day week we have had a more active but variable wheat market, the more favorable news from Europe and the steady falling off in the receipts at the Lake ports, have imparted a higher tone to the market, and give sound assurance of a more active trade during the Fall and Winter. The absence of any considerable supply of old wheat here and in Europe, coupled with the fact that farmers here and in Europe are holding back their crop, making it certain that less than half the quantity of wheat will be marketed up to the close of navigation than was marketed last year, so that the English markets will at no time be overstocked. The material decline in English and French markets of 20 to 30 per cent. since the 25th of August has not been responded to elsewhere, and it is very plain it will not be. At San Francisco the shipments of new wheat thus far are less than half the quantity for the corresponding time last year, and the bids now made for wheat are generally declined by the farmers. The crop of Chili has been mainly marketed, and Australia has no surplus for Europe. In estimating the probable consumption of wheat in Europe, we must not overlook the fact that in almost all nations the crops of small grains are much below the average, and the root crops in Great Britain are very short, and the same is true of stock, hogs and cattle; hence, with cheap grain, and animal food scarce and high, we do not look at the extreme low figures for Wheat, admitting the crop to be a full average throughout the world. In Austria and Turkey the grain crops are short; in some localities, especially in Turkey, the exports of grain have been prohibited. The production of Indian corn in Europe this season does not promise over one-half that of last year, so that the surplus of food in Europe, we think, has been greatly magnified. It is no doubt true the surplus of wheat is considerable, but a very considerable part of the population of Europe subsist on cheap grains and vegetables; these being short, Wheat must be taken in their place. The quantity of Wheat now afloat for Great Britain is less than half that at the corresponding time last year, at no time during the year do we look for it to exceed one-half the quantity of last year. In Great Britian the figures show that in every 100 acres of Wheat in Great Britain, 55 have over an average crop, 40 an average, and only five under average. In every 100 acres of Barley, there are 18 over an average and 44 an average, and 38 under an average. In 100 acres of Oats, five over an average, 18 an average, and 77 under and average. In every 100 acres of Beans, 11 over an average, 45 an average, and 44 under average. The severe drouth from which this country has suffered the past two months has greatly injured our Corn, Oats, Buckwheat, Rye, Potatoes and all root crops; and we find the injury is far greater than is generally supposed. It is very plain to us that the exporting power of this country will fall greatly below the estimates given in July last. After the coming week we look for a natural falling off in our receipts and a considerable reduction in our stocks, and it is very evident we shall close the season with a limited supply. The exports of the week are 832,600 bushels, against 814,618 bush. the corresponding week last year.

Philadelphia Market Report.

Monday, Sept. 21, 1874.

REMARKS—Trade is gradually improving, but the hopeful anticipations entertained early in the season have not been realized. In every quarter there is extreme caution and economy observed, and it is not likely that the business will be anything like as large as it was at this time last year. Merchants from the South and West are here in considerable numbers, but they show a disposition to purchase no more goods than they can promptly convert into cash. Speculation, outside the Stock Board, has rarely been so tame as at present, but at no time since the close of our war has business been on a more healthy basis.

WHEAT—The market has ruled very steady, but the demand has been limited almost entirely to choice Red and Amber to meet the wants of the local consumers. The receipts at Western points continue liberal, and the large supplies here during ensuing months are encouraging. Choice grades command very full rates, but inferior sorts can only be put off at a further decline. Sales of 9,000 bus Western and Penna. Red, fair to prime, at $1,18@1.21; 8,600 bus Indiana and Ohio do, choice, at $1.22@1.24; 1,400 bus Delaware do, choice, at $1.23; 20,000 bus Delaware and Indiana Amber at $1.25@1.28; 400 bus do White at $1.36; 1,600 bus Michigan White at $1.35; and 400 bus Kentucky do, choice, at $1.45. To-day the market closed firm, with sales of 2,400 bus Western Red at $1,22@1.24; and 800 bus do Amber at 1.27@1.28. The Liverpool advices to day note a decline of 2d @ cental in Spring descriptions. Receipts for weeks 78,000 bus.

OATS—The activity noted at the close of last week has suddenly subsided, and with increased offerings, prices have fallen off 2@3c. Sales of 10,800 bus Western White at 63@66c; 2,000 bus do do, to arrive, at 64c: and 4,800 bus dark and light and mixed at 61@64c. To-day the market closed more active and higher, with sales of 19,000 at 63@67—chiefly at 65@66c in the cars. Receipts for week 67,000.

RYE—Comes in slowly. Sales of 800 bus Penna. and Western at 96c. Receipts for week 210 bus.

CORN.—The market has been greatly unsettled. The demand has fallen off, and prices have declined 2@3c. Sales of 10,000 bus Penna. and Western Yellow 95@96c—chiefly at the former rate; and 18,000 bus Western high mixed at 94@95. To-day the market closed firm, with sales, of 860 bus Penna. Yellow at 95c, but after the receipt of a London telegram announcing an advance there of 9d, prices advanced 1@2c, and 2,000 bus Yellow sold at 97c; 400 bus Western White at 97c; 4,800 bus do at mixed at 95, 95½@96, and 20,000 bus do do on secret terms. Receipts for the week, 35,000 bus.

Grain and Flour Markets.

BELLEFONTE, Sept. 21, 1874.

The grain market of our town has been exceedingly quiet although there has been more wheat offering. The supply has been rather in excess of the demand for home consumption and we note a decline in red wheat of 5c per bushel. The favorable news from Europe, no doubt, will have a tendency to check sales for the present, and farmers will be very likely to hold off for higher prices.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC TONIC SYRUP, FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION, COUGHS AND COLDS.

The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood, and thus effects a cure.

SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC, FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, &c.

The Tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an appetite, forming chyle and curing the most obstinate cases of Indigestion.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, FOR THE CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT, &c.

These pills are alterative, and produce a healthy action of the liver without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more efficacious in restoring a healthy action of the liver.

These remedies are a certain cure for Consumption, as the Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, create healthy bile, and remove all diseases of the liver, often a cause of Consumption. The Sea Weed Tonic give tone and strength to the stomach, makes a good digestion, and enables the organs to form good blood; and thus creates a healthy circulation of healthy blood. The combined action of these medicines, as thus explained, will cure every case of Consumption, if taken in time, and the use of the medicines persevered in.

Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, corner Sixth and Arch Sts., Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. Schenck's medicines for sale by all druggists. 34-3t

DYSPEPSIA! DYSPEPSIA! DYSPEPSIA!

Dyspepsia is the most perplexing of all human ailments. Its symptoms are almost infinite in their variety, and the forlorn and despondent victims of the disease often fancy themselves the prey, in turn, of every known malady. This is due, in part, to the close sympathy which exists between the stomach and the brain, and in part also to the fact that any disturbance of the digestive function necessarily disorders the liver, the bowls and the nervous system, and effects, to some extent, the quality of the blood.

E F. Kunkle's Bitter Wine of Iron a sure cure. This is not a new preparation, to be tried and found wanting; it has been prescribed daily for many years in the practice of eminent physicians with unparalleled success; it is not expected or intended to cure all the diseases to which the human family is subject, but is warranted to cure Dyspepsia in its most obstinate form. Kunkle's Bitter Wine of Iron never fails to cure. Symptoms of Dyspepsia are loss of appetite, wind and rising of the food, dryness of the mouth, heartburn, distension of the stomach and bowels, constipation headache, dizziness, sleeplessness and low spirits. Try the great remedy and be convinced of its merits. Get the genuine. Take only Kunkle's which is put only in $1 bottles. Depot, 259 North Ninth Street Philadelphia.

JURUBEBA?
ARE YOU
Weak, Nervous or Debilitated?

Are you so Languid that any exertion requires more of an effort than you feel capable of making?

Then try JURUBEBA, the wonderful tonic and invigorator, which acts so beneficially on the secretive organs as to impart vigor to all the vital forces.

It is no alcoholic appetizer, which stimulates for a short time, only to let the sufferer fall to a lower depth of misery, but it is a vegetable tonic acting directly on the liver and spleen.

It regulates the Bowels, quiets the nerves, and gives such a healthy tone to the whole system as to soon make the invalid feel like a new person.

Its operation is not violent, but is characterized by great gentleness; the patient experiences no sudden change, no marked results, but gradually his troubles

"Fold their tents, like the Arabs,
And silently steal away."

This is no new and untried discovery, but has been long used with wonderful remedial results, and is pronounced by the highest medical authorities, "the most powerful tonic and alternative known."

. TYSON—Dear Sir:—I hereby acknowledge the value your Universal Liniment. A valuable mare of mine was ly lamed in the pasture joint. I tried numerous remes. She grew worse all the time, and I found would come permanently worthless. Your Liniment was recomnded to me, and after the use of a single bottle she was irely cured. I would cheerfully recommend it as an aluable remedy. I. LOSE.

BELLEFONTE, June, 1874.

can cheerfully recommend the Liniment made by Mr. son, having used it for a bruised foot, which it cured fectually. P. B. WILSON.

MESSRS. TYSON & Co.—Gents:—I have been suffering th a severe Rheumatism in my shoulder for several years, e pain at times being almost unbearable. Having tried any remedies without getting relief, I was at first reluct to try your Universal Liniment, but am happy to say at, having at last concluded to try it, I secured immediate lief, and after using about one-third of a bottle was enely cured. Please send me another bottle, as I would t be without it. MRS. C. GOBBLE.

BELLEFONTE, June 25th, 1874.

MR. E. TYSON—Dear Sir:—Since writing you of the benefit of your Liniment some days since, I have had another case that attests its value to a much greater degree than the former. One of the most valuable horses in my stable became so lame in the fore-shoulder that I could not use him. In fact, he was so bad that I feared I would lose the use of him entirely. He was completely worthless, and after working for days to ascertain the cause, and failing, I used your Liniment, rubbing his shoulder well with it, until a couple of bottles were used, when, to my surprise and gratification, he became fit to work, and is now entirely well. ISAAC LOSE, SR.

BELLEFONTE, June 16th, 1874.

This is to certify that I had Rheumatic pains in my arms, and after having applied Tyson's Universal Liniment once the pain disappeared. F. MULLEN.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., June 15th, 1874.

This is to certify that I had my shoulder and arm badly sprained while in the act of shoeing a mule, and that I was perfectly cured in forty-eight hours by using one bottle of Tyson's Liniment. I can recommend this Liniment as superior to any I have ever used. P. BENJ. SCHROCK.

Agricultural.

☞ NOTE.—We earnestly desire that this department of our paper shall be made as useful as possible to our Agricultural friends, and therefore extend a cordial invitation to all parties interested, to favor us with contributions. Individuals who have made useful experiments and yet do not feel competent to write them out in form for publication, if they will favor us with the results we will take pleasure in putting them in proper shape.

Stirring Soil Around Trees.

Opening or lightening the soil around the roots of trees, either in the spring or fall, for the purpose of letting in warmth, and affording a freer medium for the expansion and developing of the roots, is of great value in promoting the health and vigor of the tree. All trees, whether fruit or ornamental, young or old, indigenous or exotic, are vastly benfited by this process. In old orchards the soil about the trunk of trees, and to a considerable distance from them, in every direction, should be carefully broken, and the upper surface, to the depth of three or four inches, removed in the spring, every four or five years. The eggs of the curculio and other insects are deposited in the stratum, and if not removed, or destroyed, will produce insects, the ravages of which the succeeding year will be productive of far greater loss than the expense of removing the soil, and replacing it with compost or loam. It is an utterly hopeless undertaking to attempt the cultivation of good fruit when no measures are resorted to, to obviate the fatal ravages of this detestable and insidious foe; and the remedy now suggested is by no means expensive, if we take into consideration the advantages otherwise resulting to the trees from its application. Any good soil taken from the open field or cultivated land may be used as a substitute, for compost, and a very small quantity will suffice. Even if no fresh matter is applied, I would recommend the removal of the surface soil, and would replace it when convenient.

New England Crops.

New England has reason to be satisfied, for the Hartford Times, remarking upon the season, says: "Rye has been harvested, a splendid crop; the grass now most gathered, has never been surpassed, seldom equaled; the corn, delayed by the lack of the customary intense midsummer heat is now coming forward grandly; potatoes, of which there is in Connecticut and Massachusetts a much larger crop than usual, promise a greater yield than we have had for many years; the tobacco is coming out finely; and the apples and smaller fruits seem to be quite up to the best average in quality and quantity. Except for its flood disasters, it is a good summer 'all round.' Owing to the frequent rains our New England lanscapes, always attractive in summer, are this year surprisingly beautiful in their vivid verdure. It is a year of luxuriant growth for leaf and grain and grass."

Scally Legs in Fowls.

It is not difficult to determine the cases of this affection called scurvy on the legs of fowls. It is the want of cleanliness and proper exercise but not very difficult to cure. If the fowls have been permitted to run for a considerable length of time until the legs are encased in scurf, a thorough washing with warm strong soap-suds to remove the outer scurf, and after drying the legs, make an application of hogs lard an flour of sulphur mixed together, will generally effect a cure.

In very bad cases a second application may be necessary. This affection generally maifests itself by a sort of ashy appearance on the inside of the legs of the fowls just below the hock joints and about the feet. At this period a simple thorough greasing with lard alone will often effect a cure. Kerosene oil has been tried effectually in many cases, but the lard and sulphur is supposed to be the best remedy.

ACCORDING to Rochard, a veterinary surgeon, a simple method of preventing flies from annoying horses consist in painting the inside the ofears, or any other part especially troubled, with a few drops of empyreumatic oil of juniper. It is said that the odor of this substance is unendurable to flies, and that they will keep at a distance from the parts so annointed. If this treatment should accomplish the alleged result, it may, perhaps, be equally applicable in repelling mosquitoes from the face and hands of tourists and sportsmen when passing through woods or meadows.

Paragraphs for the Farmer.

—The lemon growers in Florida and Louisiana are raising fruit equal to the Sicily crop, and a good deal of money is being squeezed out of the business.

—A youthful Pennsylvania granger, about to be chastised by his father the other day, called for his grandfather to protect him from the middleman.

—Mrs. Margaret McGee, from Cynthiana, Ky., is a female drover, who has just brought two car loads of cattle through to Pittsburg from her four hundred acre farm in the blue grass region.

—Iowa has an excellent prospective corn crop, but only three-fourths as many hogs as last year. Illinois will have one-third less corn than last year and half as many hogs. In Wisconsin, Kansas and Nebraska there will be a great falling off in both hogs and corn.

—The strawberry season along the Hudson river, N. Y., lasted fifteen days. In that time, 62,500 bushels were shipped to New York. Two thousand pickers received $60,000 for picking them; the freight on them amounted to $21,000, and they were sold for $240,000.

—A good field of corn is described by the Danville Union, Indiana, whose editor says: We found upon actual measurement that it would average eleven feet or over, many stalks being found thirteen feet high. We had to stand on the top of a ten-rail fence to see over the field, and the tops of the corn seemed as level almost as water. We have seen many fields of corn this season, but none better than this."

—Dr. Wm. H. Smith, a wealthy farmer of Leesville, Lawrence county, Ind., met with a dreadful accident a few days ago, which will probably prove fatal. While engaged in loading hay, a pitchfork dropped from the hands of a boy on top of the stack, the prongs penetrating the back of Mr. Smith, who at that moment stooped over, with such force that it was with difficulty two men could remove it.

—A machine for drying hay and grain has been put into operation in Essex, England. It is the invention of a Mr. Gibbs, and works by passing the newly-cut grass through a trough about four feet long, a strong current of highly-heated air being driven at the same time through the trough against the stream of green grass. Thus the grass is dried exactly on the same principle as fruit or vegetables in some of our most successful drying or preserving apparatus.

—We saw a young man last week with the charbon on the middle finger of one hand. He had skinned a beef that had died of the disease, and taken the hide to the tanyard on his horse. The horse took the charbon on the back, where the hide lay, and died. A pimple appeared upon the young man's finger, and proved to be charbon. He checked it with concentrated lye. A man in his neighborhood had it on the arm. While in the field at work he felt something like a fly-bite on the arm, and there was where the charbon appeared.—Opelousa (La.) Journal.

—Mr. J. Barton, of Buckland, Dover, has favored us with a short description of a case of a heifer, in which he successfully amputated one of the fore limbs. The animal met with an accident by which a compound fracture of a most serious kind was caused. The limb had to be amputated above the knee joint. The case went on well, the heifer being soon enabled to lie down and to rise with a facility almost equal to any other animal. About five weeks afterwards she had gained so much in flesh, and was in such good condition as to enable her owner to sell her with good advantage to a butcher. —Canada Farmer.

—The heavy exports of wheat from California during the past fiscal year attract more than usual attention. The estimates for the present season present 430,000 tons of wheat, including 450,000 bbls, of flour reduced to the equivalent of wheat. The last full cargo of the crop of 1873 has been shipped, and estimates for the ensuing year vary from 600,000 to 800,000 tons. Most of the wheat and flour shipped has been, as usual, on European account. The increase in the amount of flour shipped has made a reduction of 20,000 tons in the tonnage that would have been required had the exports been entirely in wheat, as was the case in former years.

—Our friend, Mr. William Atkinson kindly presented us with a beet that am a beet. It measured twenty inches long, sixteen inches in circumference in the largest part, and six inches in the smallest, and weighed six and a half pounds. This beet is only four months old! What would it have been when it got grown? It was raised in Mr. Atkinson's garden, and he has "oodles," of the same kind now growing. This beats the beet of the Central Star, as it only weighed six pounds, and Mr. Atkinson's beet weighed six and a half pounds. Mr. Atkinson is undoubtedly the champion beet-grower of Mississippi.—Summit Times.

—A recent Austrian investigator, Dr Rudel, calculates the yearly production of paper in all civilized parts of the world as amounting to 1,800,000,000 pounds. This quantity is manufactured in 3,960 factories, which employ 90,000 male and 180,000 female hands, besides 100.000 workmen collecting and assorting rags. The factories when in full working order, represent a money value of not less than $28,000,000 gold, and the value of the annual paper production is estimated at $195,000,000. The production of the United States, with a population of 39,000,000, reaches up to 374.000.000 pounds, but their consumption exceeds this quantity by 3,000,000 pounds, which are supplied by importation.

—Most of the eggs which are sold in the New York market are shipped thither by consigners, who live at a distance, and who send them to be sold on commission. The custom of the commission merchant has been, in rendering his accout, to charge back all broken eggs, deducting them from the number received, and paying nothing for them. This custom has given dishonest dealers a chance to do a larger amount of petty stealing without risk of detection, by charging back as broken eggs which reached them sound and whole, and they have improved their opportunities so actively that they have forced honest dealers and shippers to move for protection. As a result the butter and cheese exchange has appointed a board of inspectors, who are to examine and repack all eggs—and certify to the number of whole and broken ones in each package.

THE IDEAL MILCH COW.—The characteristics of a good milch cow must be irrespective of breeds, in a general sence. Milk is created from the blood and her vital energies which make blood—that is in the indispensible condition. The good milch cow must have a well developed chest, a healthy digestive apparatus, the mammilary glands must be perfect and the udder must be soft and pliable, elastic as a piece of India rubber to the touch, whether the bag is full or empty.

Rayscraps.

A MAN named Bologna has just been arrested in Indiana for stealing sausages.

AN old joker says a barrel of soft soap in a ship is like marrying a hotel-keeper's daughter—a soft thing on board.

POTATOES contain, when sound and ripe, twenty per cent of starch, wheat contains about seventy and rice about eighty per cent.

A LARGER number of trees have been planted in Minnesota this spring than during all previous years of its settlement combined.

A WESTERN paper of the reactionary school of politics has a long article on "Putty." The editor made it out of his own head

A FISH-FARMER in Illinois gets 75 cents per pound for his trout; thus a small string of fish will bring as much as a sheep, and they require neither grain, hay, nor stabling.

A KENTUCKY genius thinks he has made an invention which will prevent ships from sinking on the ocean, and has gone to Washington to apply for a patent for it. His application should go on swimmingly.

BURNS.—Apply a layer of common salt, and satuarate it with laudanum. Hold it in position a few hours with a simple wrapper. The smarting disappears almost immediately, and the sore gets well incredibly rapidly.

LATTA'S great achievement, as a legislator, was the preparation of a bill to levy a tax on sheep. He did not succeed in passing it, except as a local law applicable to Westmoreland alone; and he thinks the sheep farmers of the State will overlook his attempt to levy a tax on them.

WHEN they tried to force Miss Gray, of Independence, Missouri, into a marriage against her will, she kicked the minister's hat off, knocked the young man down, and rode off on a mule, with one foot on either side of him.

ROSES AND LADIES.—A well known German florist relates, in a high state of irritation, his troubles in this way. He said: "I have so much trouble mit the ladies ven dey come to buy roses; dey vants him hardy; dey vants him doubles, dey wants him moonty, dey vants him fragrand, dey vants nice gooler, dey vants him efry dings in one rose. I hopes I am not vat you calls von uncallant man, but I have some times to say to dat ladies, 'Madame, I never often sees dat ladies dat vas rich, dat vas good temper, dat vas young, dat vas clever, dat vas perfection in one ladies.' I see her much not."

THE other night a weak-eyed youth was sitting in Ames church wholly forgetful of his surroundings and lost in beautific contemplation of a certain young woman, touching whom he cherished violent designs, when suddenly a hand was laid upon his shoulder and a deep contralto voice thundered in his ear: "Young man, you look as if you wanted to come to Jesus! Wont you come to Jesus?' Whereupon he was struckall of a heap, as it were, and stammered "I would —I want—that is I should like to go, you know, but not this evening, thank you; I have an engagement."—New Orleans Picayune.

Dancing and Fault-Finding.

Rev. Mr. Nightingale contributes the following story of Rev. Dr. Lothrop, an eccentric Parson who officiated in West Springfield, Massachusetts:

"A young lady, a member of Dr. Lothrop's chruch, went on a visit to a neighboring town, and while there attended a party, and danced. Tidings of her sin reached home before her. On her return, she was visited and called to a most severe account for, the disgrace she had brought upon herself and the church, and which had been found out, notwithstanding it had been done among strangers. One staid maiden, was specially earnest in her rebukes, and made the poor girl feel extemely bad.

'What shall I do?'

"You had better go and see Dr. Lothrop."

She did go and told him about it.

"And so my dear, you went to the party and danced, did you?" he remarked.

"Yes sir."

'And did you have a good time?'

"Yes sir."

"Well, I am glad of it, and hope you will go again and enjoy yourself. And now I want you to tell me the name of the woman who has been making you all this trouble." She told. "Go to that woman and tell her for me, that if she wants to go to heaven, she had better make more use of her feet, and less of her tongue."

MEDICAL.

CHEROKEE REMEDY.

THE GREAT INDIAN DIURETIC.
INFINITELY SUPERIOR TO BUCHU.

Nine tenths of the human family suffer, directly or indirectly, at one time or other, from diseases or irregularities of the generative system, while the victims of indiscretion, and of quack treatment, are comparatively numerous.

The idea that patients cannot treat themselves successfully in these cases, has long ago been exploded. A good and reliable medicine, prepared by an experienced physician, from the original Indian Recipe, that is guaranteed to effect a can be as safely relied upon as the prescription of the most skillful practitioner. Such a medicine is the celebrated

CHEROKEE REMEDY.

Full directions accompany each bottle, and if they are carefully followed, a quick and permanent cure is guarranteed. Price $2.00 per bottle.

THE CHEROKEE INJECTION, should always be used in conjunction with the Remedy for both incipient and obstinate cases of Gonorrhœa. Price $2.00 per bottle.

CHEROKEE CURE

for seminal weakness (spermatorrhœa), is a simple vegetable medicine that was used for many years in the practice of the physician who first gave the remedy to the public. It has effected cures that would scarcely be credited except on ocular evidence of the fact. Full directions, with pamphlet containing all particulars of symptoms, treatment, &c., accompany each bottle. Price $2.00 per bottle. Sold everywhere.

CHEROKEE PILLS.

These Pill are prepared expressly for the cure of those irregularities to which ladies are subject, and will be found safe, reliable and effectual, for the cure of Suppression, Green Sickness, Pain in the Back, Hysteria, Sick Headache, &c., &c. Price $1.00 per box.

Heimstreet's Hair Restorative,

OR INIMITABLE HAIR COLORING.

NOT A DYE.—Heimstreet's "Hair Coloring is not a Dye, and its operation is not by any chemical effect, but by a natural restoration of the glands, thus giving the hair the color it originally had.

NATURALNESS.—When the hair is dyed, its color is leaden hued and unnatural, but when restored by HEIMSTREET'S HAIR COLORING, its appearance is so perfectly natural that no one can detect the use of any Restorative.

STAINLESS. — While the Restorative acts promptly on the hair, it leaves no stain or mark whatever on the skin. It is composed of ingredients that form a perfect dressing as well as a coloring, so that no oils, &c., are necessary.

THIS MOST EFFECTIVE of all the Hair Restorers is for sale by all druggists at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Numerous certificates from those who have used it are in the possession of the proprietors.

PARK'S BALSAM

OR

WILD CHERRY AND TAR.

BALSAM.—Nothing is more soothing to the irritated membranes than the pure BALSAMS of which this medicine is composed.

WILD CHERRY.—The true bark of Wild Cherry is an unfailing specific for all throat and pectorial diseases.

TAR.—The wonderful healing properties of Tar when united with the other ingredients, render PARK'S BALSAM the most efficient Cough Medicine ever offered to the public.

CONSUMPTION. — The many cases of Consumption that have been cured justify us in the assertion that it is the very best medicine for that disease ever discovered.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

STEPHEN FISK, of New York, says his daughter had consumption, and terbucles had formed in her lungs. He was induced to try Park's Balsam, which effected a speedy cure.

T. EDWARD FLEET, of Brooklyn says, I think it is the best medicine for affections of the lungs I ever used.

G. S. FANCHER, of New York says, I feel fully persuaded that Park's Balsam has saved my life.

We have in our possession hundreds of certificates from others, and all of the same cheering import. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere.

Address all orders to JOHN F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO., 8 and 9 College Place, New York.

EGYPTIAN

Rat and Vermin Destroyer

FOR EXTERMINATING RATS, MICE, WATER BUGS, ROUCHES, RED ANTS, &c.

STRENGTH.—When a Rat tastes the Egyptian Destroyer, his death warrant is signed, sure. It cannot fail to kill. It also creates great thirst, and the rat will search for water out of doors, and not die in his hole, to cause a stench that cannot be got out.

ATTRACTIVENESS.—Rats are the shrewdest of vermin. It is hard to get them to eat poison. An ingredient in the Egyption Destroyer is a perfect bait, and they are attracted rather than freightened be it. "Rats (not children) cry for it.

KEEPING SOFT.—People know how the ordinary Rat Pastes dry up and become useless, causing annoyance and loss. The Egyptian Destroyer is fully warranted to keep soft, fresh and effective in any climate for years.

SURE DEATH.—The Egyptian Destroyer kills every time. Hundreds of unsolicited testimonials are now in the hands of the proprietors, substantiating its great merits as the best preparation for destroying Vermin in the world. Be sure and ask for the "Egyptian," and take no other.

Put up in large glass bottles. Price, 25 cts. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

HOLLOWAY'S

Pills and Ointment

EVERY MAN HIS OWN PHYSICIAN.

THE GRAND PRINCIPLE that operates in these wonderful medicines is the power that they possess in purifying the turbid blood, and expelling corrupt humors from the system.

Both the ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Bunions, Burns, Chapped hands, Chilblains, Fistula, Gout, Limbago, Mercurial Eruptions, Piles, Rheumatism, Ring-Worms, Salt Rheums, Scalds, Skin Diseases, Swelled Glands, Sore Legs, Sore Breasts, Sore Heads, Sore Throats, Sores of all kinds, Sprains, Stiff Joints, Tetter, Ulcers, Venereal sores, Wounds of all kinds.

USE HOLLOWAY'S EXPECTORANT for the absolute cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest, and all affections of the Pulminary nature.

CAUTION.

Be careful and see that each bottle has the Holloway and Co. trade mark on it.

MEDICAL.

Wright's Rejuvenating Elixer.

For the restoration of Nature's forces. It gives new life and vigor to the aged, and causes the blood of youth to course through the veins. It effectually cures Impotency, Palpitation of the Heart, Loss of Muscular Power, Low Spirits, Disorganization of the Generative Organs, and all the train of ills that follow in the path of the transgressor of Nature's laws. Price $2 per bottle.

It will be readily understood that in the brief space afforded by the advertising columns of a public print, it is impossible to give all particulars of the diseases that may be cured by the CHEROKEE MEDICINES. That they are destined to become immensely popular is plainly obvious in consequence of their

GREAT INTRINSIC MERIT.

The pamphlet and circulars that accompany the medicines give all the information which cannot be given here, and the remedies may be had of any respectable druggist.

ELAINE

AS AN ILLUMINATOR.

WHY IT IS THE SAFEST.

ELAINE will not explode while burning in a lamp, nor in any other way, as it does not contain any of the explosive compounds so frequently met with in the ordinary oil for illuminating. A lamp, filled with ELAINE, if upset or accidently broken, will not explode or burn. There is no position in which you can put a lamp filled with ELAINE, for common use, in which it will explode. As no other illuminator has such advantages of safety, ELAINE IS CERTAINLY THE SAFEST FAMILY ILLUMINATING OIL KNOWN.

VOTERS, ATTENTION.

All voters must pay their taxes thirty days before election. See to it at once, you will not be allowed to vote if your taxes are not paid.

——Col. Jim Coburn prefers to remain "an humble, private citizen."

——Prof. Geo. Hageman has left Lock Haven. He went Scott free.

——The Snow Shoe railroad company is humming with business at present.

——The County fair is but a few weeks off, and little time is left for preparation.

——Will the local option vigilance committee please keep an eye on the democratic conferees to-day?

——We suppose that the grangers will have a delightful time at their picnic to-morrow, near Centre Hall.

——The Bellefonte Band attended the Veteran pic-nic last Thursday in their new uniforms. They made a fine appearance.

——There are a host of men about Philipsburg who want to dwell in that particular locality where the Daiseys have lately wilted.

——The grand jury of Clinton county seem to be determined that their court house shall be provided with some of the necessaries of life.

——On Judge Orvis' farm there is a grape-vine from one root, on which four thousand bunches of grapes have been counted this summer.

——What is getting wrong with Postal affairs in this county? Last week one post office was destroyed by fire and another lost its master.

——At the regular monthly meeting of the Building and Loan Association on Saturday evening last, money sold at an average premium of 28 per cent.

——Duncan, Hale & Co. is the name of the new firm about to take charge of the large flouring establishment formerly run by John M. Wagner & Co.

——The picnic of the members of St. John's Catholic church last week was one of those delightful annual occurrences that always pleases all participants.

——The Bellefonte Glass Works, under the excellent management of Messrs. Shadd, Seigwarth & Co. are running to their full capacity and are selling all the glass they make.

——A freight car run over a dog at the depot on Saturday at noon and five minutes afterwards over one hundred and fifty men, women and children were on the spot. They thought it was a fight.

——This town is always getting into trouble. At Lock Haven a new street has been named Bellefonte avenue and the city authorities think that our town council should present a suit of clothes to every child born on the namesake thoroughfare.

——The delegates to the Republican County Convention will bear in mind that the convention will reassemble on the sixth day of Octocber for the purpose of nominating the party ticket. The 6th will be the first day of the county fair.

——The local hereof acknowledges receipt of invitation to be present, and make a few remarks, at the Grangers' pic-nic to-morrow in Pennsvalley, but owing to press of business and high price of hay-seed in this village, he is compelled to stay at home.

——Miss Belle Rupert, was thrown from a buggy, on Tuesday of last week, near Zion, and was considerably injured about the head and shoulders. The fact that some ugly obstructions had been left in the road was the cause of this accident. It is the duty of supervisors to keep the roads free from obstructions.

——There is a man, named Furguson, living on Bishop street who is a good man, devoting much of his time in trying to train up his children in the way in which they should go, and as his flock is numerous and two of them are boys he has anything but a sinecure in his training business. On Saturday, the elder of these male olive branches, who has lived about fourteen wicked years, enticed his younger brother of ten to go in swimming in the planing mill dam, a species of pastime which their father had many times forbidden. But the boys went this time, trusting to luck to conceal their depravity from the knowledge of their father, and in due time they returned and walked around the house, the two most innocent looking boys in Bellefonte, They separated for a few moments, and at the expiration of that time, the elder was suddenly confronted by the father, who requested a private interview in the usual place, and the pair adjourned to the wood shed, where, after a brief but highly spirited performance, in which the boy appeared successfully in the role of "heavy villian" and his father took his favorite part of "first old man," the curtain went down and the considerably mystified young Furguson sought his brother. He immediately inquired if John knew who told their father. John's face will not look more peaceful and resigned when it is in his coffin than it did when he replied "No, have you?" "Have I? Come down to the cowshed and look at my back." John declined but said: "Well, Bill, I'tell you how father found it out. I'm tired of acting in this way and I ain't going to run away and come home and lie about it anymore. I am going to do better after this; and so when I saw father I couldn't help it and went right to him and confessed." Bill was somewhat touched at this manly action of his younger brother but he inquired how it happened that the father did not whip him. "Well," said the penitent young reformer, "you see I didn't confess on myself, I only confessed on you; that was the way of it." A strange cold light shone in Bill's eyes, "Only confessed on me," he said, "well that's all right, but come down behind the cow house and see my back." And when they got there and finished the little matter, John wished he'd gone in on Sunday so he would have been drowned.

SUICIDE.—On last Sunday morning, Mrs. John Hawk, living about one mile and a half West of Madisonburg, rose and prepared breakfast for the family. After breakfast she went from the summer house to the dwelling. The rest of the family prepared and ate dinner at the usual hour, having called her when dinner was ready, and receiving no answer, it was supposed that she had gone to the house of some neighbor. Toward evening the family became alarmed at her long absence and began to make inquiry among the neighbors, but could get no trace of her. A party of men was raised who commenced hunting for her, and every imaginable place was searched without success until about 9 o'clock in the evening, when some suggested the garret, and on the garret she was found—dead—having committed suicide by hanging.

Her family, her neighbors, and indeed all who knew the lady find it impossible to account for this singular freak. She was known to be of a lively disposition, an affectionate wife, a devoted loving mother, and a kind-hearted neighbor. No one has knowledge of any existing trouble, either in family or other matters, and no cause can be assigned for the sad action except temporary insanity.—Berichter.

——People who are troubled with having their fruit stolen, should know that the law provides an effective remedy for such offenses. It imposes a fine of not less than $5, nor more than $100, upon every person who shall wilfully enter any orchard or garden, and club or otherwise injure any fruit trees, or shall tramp upon or break down grass, grain, vegetables or vines of any kind. The stealing of fruit is declared a misdemeanor, and any person convicted, shall be fined not exceeding $40, and be imprisoned not more than sixty days. The same penalty is declared against the stealing or removal of vegetables, plants or ornamental trees and shrubbery. —Ex.

For the REPUBLICAN.

DEAR SIR.—Will you give me a little space in your paper for a brief report of Sabbath school work done during the eight months, ending August 31st, 1874.

In the five counties, Lycoming, Centre, Clinton and Cameron, in which I have been laboring the past eight months, there are more than 200 Sunday schools for which no religious denomination as such is directly responsible. They are at present necessarily unsectarian. In every way possible, I have endeavored to encourage and strengthen these schools in addition to the new schools organized and made successful. A considerable number of week denominational schools have also been aided.

In scores of communities on this field there would be no religious meeting of any kind throughout the year, were it not for Sunday school.

That these schools for Bible study on the Lord's Day promote the highest welfare of the community is evident to all.

Besides the direct gain to christianity, they exert a constant influence in preventing crime and reducing its cost.

Again I wish to express my thanks to all who have co-operated with me in this work which has been fruitful in good results wherever faithfully done.

Ever yours,

R. CRITTENDON,

Missionary A. S. S. Union.

——We have just completed a handsome lot of full sheet posters for the 22nd annual exhibition of the Centre County Agricultural Society which will be held on the fair grounds on the 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th of October next. The grounds are within a mile of the Court House, are easy of access and have been put in thorough order. The trotting course is one of the best in the interim of the state. Trials of speed of horses and various other amusements will take place daily. The premium list is large, liberal and comprehends almost everything by name and where not enumerated, the articles will receive special premiums if commendable. Additional accommodations for stock have been provided at a large expense and a new road leading from the main building on the hill has been opened, thus avoiding all danger of collisions. Copies of the premium list can be obtained from any member of the executive committee. Competition is invited from all portions of the country. Entries may be made at any time prior to the 6th of October at the office of D. S. Keller, Secretary; on and after that date the office will be removed to the grounds. No charge will be made for entries except for trials of speed. The last day will be devoted to the sale, by auction, of all such articles of stock, implements, grain, seeds, etc., as the owners may desire to dispose of. The price of life member's tickets is ten dollars, but after the first of November the price will be raised to twenty five dollars. Single tickets twenty five cents.

EDUCATIONAL.—Last week we published an account of the closing exercises of the Centre Normal school. We have received, however, the following report from a friend, with a request to publish and comply at the risk of furnishing stale news:

On Thursday the closing exercises of the Centre county Normal School, located at Centre Hall, transpired, and were pronounced of a highly entertaining and profitable character. During the after noon, exercises of a various nature were held in the school building, and in the evening the main affair came off in the Evangelical church, which, long before the hour of opening had arrived, was crowded, so that many who had come to witness the performances had to turn away unsatisfied. In fact, the highest degree of interest seemed to be manifested, friends of education and former members of the school being present from all parts of the county.

The exercises of the evening opened with prayer by Rev. J. W. Leckey, of Millheim. Music, Vesper Song, instrumental and vocal, by Prof. Rishel and the Normal club. The Salutatory Essay was read by Miss Elmira Whippo, of Port Matilda, and was a very appropriate composition, though not read sufficiently loud. However, the standing committee in the back part of the audience were so boisterous in their deliberations that the lady's voice was drowned. At the conclusion of the reading, Supt. Magee enjoined better order. Music, "Come Again." An oration, Man, was delivered by Charles Donnley, of Pine Grove Mills; and Miss Lucy Barnhart, of Roland, read a pretty essay, subject, Look before you Leap. Music, Leaf by Leaf, a solo and accompaniment, by Mrs. Magee, beautifully sung. Mrs. M. possesses a rich voice, and she sings with a sweet natural modulation, evidently making but little effort. L. K. Emerick, of Centre Hall, delivered an oration of merit, Know Thyself. Miss Annie McDonald, of Pine Grove Mills, read a beautifully composed essay, entitled, The Beauty of Benevolence. Music, Camp in the Glade, by the club. Geo. P. Rishel, of Bellefonte, then delivered an oration, subject, Will Power, which was discussed with ability, and was eloquently and fascinatingly delivered. Mr. R. possesses powers for the making of an orator. His manner is peculiarly pleasing and winsome. He speaks affectively and without the least hesitation. There was, nothwithstanding, still considerable confusion in the rear of the house, and Prof. Rishel, at this point, arose and rebuked the unruly ones, after which there was better order. An essay, The Fountain of Happiness, was read by Miss Mary L. Nesbit, of Bellefonte. This essay was distinguished for elegance and purity of style. Music by Mrs. Magee, We'd better Bide a Wee. Sung charmingly. Wm. F. Ossman, of Centre Hall, delivered an eulogy on Charles Sumner. The subject matter was chosen with right good taste, and although Mr. Ossman was not eloquent, he was entertaining. Miss Alice Martin, of Fleming, read an essay, entitled, Farewell, which contained much of the pathetic, and was admirably composed. Music, Patriotic Glee, by the club. The Re-Union address was delivered by W. R. Bierly, formerly editor of the Daily & Weekly Register, Wmsp't, Pa. His address had to do with the history of the school to some extent, he having been connected with it in its first years, and the thread of his speech was of the part which self-reliance and determination play in achieving success. The address was short and necessarily somewhat discursive. Music, The Beautiful Gates Ajar, gracefully rendered by Mrs. Magee. Extract from Patrick Henry, rehearsal by J. L. Bricker, of Boalsburg, spoken quite well, perhaps a little too precipitately for the performer's enunciation. Beautiful essay, by Miss Agnes Murry, of Centre Hall, subject, Last Days. Music, Fawn-Footed Nannie, by Prof. Rishel and the club. The Valedictory was delivered by J. C. Thompson, Buffalo Run. This was a well prepared speech, but parts of it were spoken in a low and indistinct tone, which marred the delivery. The gentleman has the elements of a pleasing and persuasive speaker, if he will improve his elocution somewhat more. The subject matter was quite appropriate to the valedictory.

After the boquets, of which there was a profusion, were distributed, the audience rose to their feet, sang Old Hundred and were dismissed with a benediction. This closed one of the most successful terms of the Normal school, the attendance being better than at any other previous term. The Superintendent and his co-instructors can well be pleased with the favorable showing of their work, at this stage of the school's history.

——A certain individual, whom his enemies have styled the "Hebrew liquor vender," has been returned over half a dozen times lately, for violating the laws made and provided. But the victim accounts for this persecution in a philosophical manner, and thinks it is retaliation for persecutions inflicted on the Gentiles years ago.

——"We always enjoy a good joke, and were amused at a recent article in the Tuten REPUBLICAN, in which those chaps from the land of blue-lights tried to worm themselves into the confidence of our Centre county farmers, by pretending to have been farmers, and now the friends, par excellence, of the grangers. We say the "putting on airs" amused us, because we know it as a fact, that the only uses the Tutens were put to in farming, up in Puritania, was in the spring time, when they were fastened upon stumps in corn fields to scare away the crows."

The above article we clip from the Centre Hall Reporter of last week. It was the leader. It is probably the sharpest and wittiest article that Mr. Kurtz ever wrote. The inside of that paper is frequently replete with such scintillations of his genius. Here is another of them:

"A wortle-berry found in the mountain south of Gramley's saw-mill measured nearly three-fourths of an inch in diameter or about too inches in circumference."

What a wonderful man Mr. Kurtz, the great Democratic politician, must be to have such faculties of observation. And look at the arithmetic! Those two articles coming from one and the same issue of the Reporter—the inside, too, not the patent part—are wonderful, so heavy and so well put! In another place he adds, mysteriously,

"Shoo-fly is the common pass-port."

Now that is very good, nobody but an ex-assembly-man editor of a patent paper would have ever given birth to such a pleasant thought. We have copied the above articles to show the public that Mr. Kurtz is an editor, and when he gets himself down to real solid anguishing labor, he can really produce such articles as the above. Of course he is growing old and his eyes are perhaps losing a shade of their vetrious lustre, and the lines of care and editorial overwork are beginning to gridiron his face, and his head appears to be growing up through his hair, but they are the result of his over-exertion. It is pleasant to reflect, withal, that he "always enjoys a good joke." Men of sufficient calibre to get up the above editorial articles ought to; but then it's very kind to inform the public, it makes so much difference to the public.

In the same issue Mr. Kurtz gives an airing to some of his German knowledge. We are glad he does understand one language pretty well and advise him to write his editorials in Dutch, because his broken-English is not very intelligible. The column he devoted to us last week would be about as plain to the average reader if it were printed in Choctaw. He reminds us of the boy at the vendue who asked the auctioneer if he had any little wind-mills for a cent; that is just about Kurtz make-up—a little Democratic wind-mill for a cent. When he sees an article in this or any other paper that attracts public notice, then he goes into retirement and struggles with himself till he brings forth a little one for a cent. Then his paper has some qualities that savor of utility. Politicians use it and him whenever they want to. He is a good errand boy and does his master's bidding like the veriest menial, and for small pay. Any of the Bellefonte leaders could hire him for a song to do the duties of scavenger. It is his sphere and he is suited for it both by nature and education. He is not worthless material either by any means. A lion passing through the streets never creates so much sensation as when a pack of curs come out to bark. The smallest substance makes a riffle on the water, the most infinitesimal being must subsist, the vilest excrement may be utilized, and so we suppose the Reporter man is living out his mission.

——Since the gunning season opened on the 1st inst., numbers of our town sportsmen have been daily visiting the adjoining country for the purpose of indulging in the exciting sports afforded by squirrel shooting, and in most cases their efforts have been amply rewarded with well filled game bags. Squirrels are very difficult to shoot, being so very active and shy and it requires a quick eye and a steady hand to bring them down. The favorite hour with sportsmen is about day-break, when the brisky little creatures emerge from their haunts and places of concealment during the night, to feed on the berries, nuts and acorns of the forests. Last week large numbers of fine rat squirrels were brought to town by the successful sportsmen, and as the season is just fairly opening, the slaughter promises to continue until the expiration of the time prescribed by the game laws of the State

——Some young men found a rear opening into the late saloon under the Bush House one night last week and stole the remaining stock of the establishment which consisted of some five galons of whiskey. The young men carried the beverage to a place of concealment somewhere in the cellar of Bush's Arcade. Policeman Steele got wind of the theft, and the parties on Sunday and followed them to the place of concealment and captured the spoils. The young men had a hearing on monday which resulted in a commitment.

——Communication from Boalsburg crowded out this week.

IF THE DRUGGIST OFFERS any kind of herb-flavored alcohol for dyspepsia, biliousness, or any other ailment, tell him that you want medicine, not a bar-room drink. Ask him for Dr. Walker's, California Bitters, the best regulating preparation known, and which you know is free from Satan Elixir. Reject all the fiery Tonics and Appetizers, and cling to that remedy. There is no medicine that compares with it. 37-4w

IF Alcoholic stimulents are taken into the blood the heart works faster, and this unnatural speed wears out the vital machinery. All intoxicating nostrums advertised as tonics, renovators, &c., produce this disastrous effect, and should be rejected. Dr. Walker's Vegetable Vinegar Bitters—an Invigorant without the curse of alcohol—is everywhere supplanting these poisons. 37—4w

IN answer to scores of letters of inquiry, we state 1: The Fifth Gift Concert of the Kentucky Public Library will positively take place November 20, 1874, and there will be no postponement, 2. No matter whether all the tickets are sold or not, the drawing will be full, and the capital prize will be $250,000. Save us the trouble of writing letters, good friends, and for information concerning this matter, drop a line to Gov. Thomas E. Bramlette, Louisville, Ky. You will recieve full particulars by return of mail. Please spare us.

MARRIED

On the 22nd inst., at the M. E. Parsonage, in Bellefonte, by Rev. M. L. Smyser, Daniel Stine and Miss Levina Mays, both of Centre Co., Pa.

DIED

At Milesburg, Pa., on Saturday, Sept. 12th 1874, of cholera infantum, Mertie S., daughter of W. H. and Sallie E. Musser, aged 4 months and 16 days.

At his residence, in Marion twp., Centre Co., on the 16th day of Sept., 1874, Robert Holmes, aged 74 years, 10 months and 7 days.

Robert Holmes, the subject of the above notice, was a decendant of one of the old Presbyterian families that left England for conscience's sake, and settled in the wilds of Pennsylvania, preferring to brave the privations of the wilderness and the terrors of the North American savage, to peace and safety under a government that compelled its citizens to worship God in the places and manner that a bigotted and despotic monarch directed.

Jonathan Holmes, the grandfather of the subject of this notice, at an early day in the history of Pennsylvania, settled at or near Carlisle, where in combination with others of like faith, he assisted to erect a church in the wilderness for the praise and worship of Almighty God, and having raised a large family of sons and daughters, who in like manner went out into the wilderness to seek homes for themselves, and amongst whom Jonathan Holmes, the youngest, is found erecting his log hut near Mifflinburg, in Union County, and associating himself with other Presbyterians, erected what was long known as the Buffalo church. Robert Holmes, the son, became a millwright, and at an early age, like his father and grandfather, left the paternal home and settled in Centre County, where he worked at his trade for several years, and about the year 1828 connected himself with the Presbyterian congregation at Lick Run, then under the pastoral care of the Rev. James Linn. About 1836 he left his trade and purchased the old William Wilson farm, on which he continued to reside until within a few months of his death.

Mr. Holmes raised a large family in the way of sobriety and industry, all of whom survive him except one daughter. He had for several years been a ruling elder in the Presbyterian congregation at Lick Run, where he had the pleasure of seeing several of his children admitted to the church he loved as his forefathers had loved it.

As a citizen he was highly esteemed by all who knew him; of a retiring disposition, he lived in the bosom of his family, undisturbed by the desire for political fame, yet an ardent lover of the civil institutions of our country, a strict student of the Bible, an earnest adherant of his church, yet liberal in his views and charitable towards all, he died as he had lived, in peace with all men, and possessing the peace of God which passeth all understanding, having lived happily with the wife of his youth over half a century. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from henceforth, yea, saith the spirit, for they rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

ANNOUNCEMENT.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—We wish to announce, through the columns of your paper, the name of Dr. J. M. Blair, of Unionville, as a candidate for the Assembly, subject to the rules of the Republican County Convention. MILESBURG.

We are authorized to announce the name of D. S. Keller, Esq., as a candidate for District Attorney, subject to decision of the Republican County Convention.

We are authorized to announce the name of John Boozer of Potter Township as a candidate for assembly.

MR. EDITOR.—It is with pleasure that we learn that George L. Zeigler, Esq., of Philipsburg, is named as a candidate for the Assembly. Knowing him to be a staunch and active Republican, a man of high repute and in every way competent to make a successful and able representative, we favor his nomination. His personal manner and address, and his sympathy for and interest in the various industrial and manufacturing interests in the county are such as to constitute him a very popular candidate. His nomination would not be paying too great deference to his claims of that part of the county, which heretofore has been left very much in the cold. We hope the Republican party when it meets in Convention the sixth of October next, will honor and strengthen itself, by nominating him for Assembly. CITIZENS OF LIBERTY.

Centaur Liniment

There is no pain which the Centaur Liniment will not relieve, no swelling they will not subdue, and no lameness which they will not cure. This is strong language, but it is true. They have produced more cures of rheumatism, neuralgia, lock-jaw, palsy, sprains, swellings, caked-breasts scalds, burns, salt-rheum, earache, &c., &c., upon the human frame, and of strains spavin, galls. &c., upon animals in one year than have all other pretended remedies since the world began. They are counter-irritant, all-healing pain reliever. Cripples throw away their crutches, the lame walk, poisonous bites are endered harmless, and the wounded are healed without a scar. The recipe is published around each bottle. They sell as no articles ever before sold, and they sell because they do just what they pretends to do. Those who now suffer from rheumatism, pain or swelling, deserve to suffer if they will not use Centaur Liniment. More than 1000 certificates of remarkable cures, including frozen limbs, chronic rheumatism, gout, running tumors, &c., have been received. We will send a circular containing certificates, the recipe, &c., gratis, to any one requesting it. One bottle of the yellow wrapper Centaur Liniment is worth one hundred dollars for spavined or sweenied horses and mules, or for screw-worm in sheep. Stock-owners—these liniments are worth your attention. No family should be without them. "White wrapper for family use;" Yellow wrapper for animals. Sold by all Druggists. 50 cents per bottle; large bottles $1 00. J. B. ROSE & Co., 53 Broadway, New York.

CASTORIA is more than a substitute for Castor Oil. It is the only safe article in existence which is certain to assimilate the food, regulate the bowels, cure wind-colic and produce natural sleep. It contains neither minerals, morphine or alcohol, and is pleasant to take. Children need not cry and mothers may rest. 5-39-1y
